

WOULD DECLARE WIN — Sen. George Aiken, R-Vt., has called on the United States to declare it has won a military victory in Viet Nam as the first step in a peace plan to speed a political settlement. The declaration, Aiken said, "would herald the resumption of political warfare as the dominant theme in Viet Nam." (NEA Telephoto)

U.S. Pushes For Buffer Defoliation Resumes Spraying Despite Protests

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite recent protests, the United States continues to use defoliants and crop killers in Viet Nam, a war tactic that so far has consumed around $10 million in chemicals.

A Pentagon spokesman acknowledged today that U.S. Air Force C123s still periodically spray heavy jungle and rice-growing areas in an effort to deprive the Viet Cong of ambush cover and food.

Effort Decried

The effort, under way the last two years, was decried last month by 22 scientists, including seven Nobel Prize winners.

The group, in a letter to President Johnson, said employment of even mild chemical agents opens the door for the administration of deadlier types by both the enemy and the United States.

There is no indication the plea was heeded.

In fact, the Pentagon recently extended the spraying operation to include western areas of South Viet Nam's portion of the 6-mile-wide demilitarized zone separating the country from North Viet Nam.

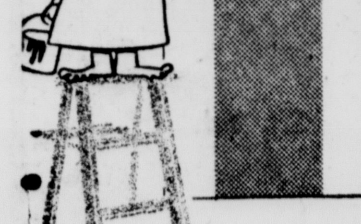

Large numbers of North Vietnamese troops have penetrated the Demilitarized Zone in recent weeks in what some military men think may be the prelude to a big offensive push into South Viet Nam's northernmost Quang Tri Province.

Spray DMZ

To expose the Communist regulars for U.S. air strikes, U.S. planes equipped with 1,000-gallon dispensers swept sections of the DMZ with chemicals which kill concealing foliage.

Overall, more than 640,000 acres of jungle and cropland have been coated with what the Pentagon describes as non-toxic chemicals since January 1965.

The Ulster County Community Chest campaign for 1967 reached another plateau this morning with the announcement the drive has inched up over the 60 per cent mark — actually 62.8 per cent.

Pledges now total $188,224 to date, leaving a balance of $111,376 still outstanding.

Charles E. Raible, campaign manager, emphasized the point today that "if we are to reach the $289,600 figure needed for 1967 every resident must contribute." "Have you given yet?" was Raible's terse reminder.

Follow-ups are now underway with the hopes that the goal will be realized by the new extension date of Oct. 31.

GI Losses Decline In Week's Fighting

Newkirk Has No Word Yet on PO's Yule Recruiting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office Department is recruiting an army of 150,000 temporary employees for its battle against the annual avalanche of Christmas mail.

Starting Now

The objective, in the words of Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien, is to try to insure "that our fighting men in Viet Nam and all of our people at home will receive all of their Christmas mail on time."

Kingston Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk today said he has received no official report dealing with the number of men the city will be expected to add to its regular force. Each year, however, extra men have been hired to assist with the Christmas rush.

Recruiting of the temporary employees will begin immediately, he said in hopes that many of them can join the department's regular 700,000-man work force by Nov. 1. Last year the hiring of 147,000 temporary workers did not begin until Dec. 4.

The earlier-than-usual hiring fits in with the department's campaign for Americans to "shop early mail early and use Zip codes" on their Christmas cards and packages.

O'Brien's announcement Wednesday came one day after the department finished sorting (Continued on Page 41, Col. 5)

Ky Moves to Patch Up Civilian Cabinet Rift

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky made progress today toward patching up his civilian cabinet, but two of the seven southern dissidents were reported refusing to withdraw their resignations.

Ky told a news conference that while he was at the Manila conference next week Deputy Prime Minister Nguyen Luu Vien, one of the seven who had quit Wednesday, would be in charge in Saigon.

Still in Doubt

A lack of other official comment and a spate of contradictory rumors left the outcome of the dispute in doubt. Unofficial reports were that Ky had persuaded five of the southerners to stay on in the cabinet. No informed source, however, said the premier had ended the basic feud between the southern civilians and the military men from North Viet Nam who hold the power.

The southerners have blamed top northern officials for "regional divisionism" in the government and have accused National Police Chief Nguyen Ngoc Loan of ruthlessness. In a resignation statement Wednesday, they said the military regime was corrupt, complained of military interference in civilian affairs and said the government should do something to better the life of the people.

See No Threat

The split did not appear to threaten the life of Ky's 16-month-old regime since civilians in the cabinet are limited largely to administrative functions. But it promised embarrassment

Nam came to a near standstill, but delayed reports of the Mekong Delta battle Tuesday and Wednesday showed that Vietnamese infantrymen took a bad mauling.

At the other end of the country, U.S. B52 bombers hammered at a North Vietnamese staging area just south of the demilitarized zone. The B52s hit 12 miles southwest of Dong Ha, the big U.S. Marine forward headquarters near the zone separating North and South Viet Nam.

Official figures released today showed a decrease in American casualties last week and an increase in South Vietnamese killed and wounded.

74 Killed in Week

In the week ending last Saturday, 47 Americans were reported killed, 432 wounded and two missing, compared with the previous week's toll of 91 killed, 604 wounded and 17 missing.

Vietnamese dead totaled 189 last week, 504 wounded and 85 missing. The previous week 160 were reported killed, 425 wounded and 21 missing.

Enemy losses last week were put by U.S. officials at 993, down sharply from the 1,331 reported for the previous seven days.

The South Vietnamese reported 1,248 enemy killed and 778 captured. Discrepancies often occur between U.S. and South Vietnamese reports of enemy casualties.

May Top Cong Losses

In the Mekong Delta battle 105 miles southwest of Saigon, Vietnamese military headquarters reported that 138 Viet Cong were killed in the paddyfield and marshland fighting. Of these, about 100 were killed by Vietnamese and American air strikes, a Vietnamese military spokesman said.

Unofficial eyewitness reports placed the South Vietnamese losses at least as high as the Viet Cong and probably higher. In addition, U.S. headquarters disclosed earlier that 24 of the American helicopters which ferried Vietnamese infantrymen into the battle were hit. Four of (Continued on Page 42, Col. 5)

Reds Fire 2 Vehicles Into Space Launch Cosmos, Molniya Shots

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union launched two artificial earth satellites—one described as doing space research, the other for communications—apparently as visiting Soviet bloc leaders from eight nations watched at the secret launching site.

The launchings, apparently several hours apart, were from Baikonur, the Soviet space center on the edge of central Asia.

Research Satellite

The first was Cosmos 130, in a series described as doing space research. A later announcement told of the blasting aloft of Molniya-1, the name for a series of communications satellites.

Three earlier ones have been sent up.

The announcement said the Molniya satellite went into a high elliptical orbit. Orbits that come close to the earth in the Southern Hemisphere and swing high over the Northern Hemisphere have been used for Molnyas to keep them in radio contact with the Soviet Union for the maximum possible time.

Molnyas have been used to relay television programs 4,000 miles from Moscow to Vladivostok and to carry television programs between Moscow and Paris.

The Communist countries reported to have been represented at Baikonur have an agreement to cooperate in space research and communications with satellites.

Manned Flight Next

The Soviet have not announced a manned space flight in 19 months, and there had been unconfirmed reports in Moscow that one was planned this week to coincide with the Soviet bloc summit meeting in the Soviet capital. The visiting Communist leaders left Moscow for the Soviet space center at Baikonur, in Siberia, to watch a launching.

The signals from the new satellite were first heard by West Berlin's Wilhelm Foerster observatory.

Kapers Conclude Tonight at KHS

Another banner turnout, perhaps the biggest of the three-night schedule, is expected for tonight's concluding performance of the 1966 version of Kiwanis Kapers at Kingston High School, at 8:15 o'clock.

Patrons who have witnessed either the first or second night of this year's Kapers have been quick to agree that the 1966 edition is one of the best ever. The show, written by Donald MacIsaac, features an outstanding cast including Miss Julie Just, a former Miss New York State; Ed Mello, Herman Rafalovsky, Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan, Harry Thayer, the Rev. Dr. David C. Gaise and the go-go girls. In all, it's a great menu for a fine evening's entertainment.

Funds realized through the annual productions are used to carry out the Kiwanis Club's scholarship and welfare programs in the community.

Tickets will be available at the door.

Housewives Extend Boycott Against Spiraling Food Prices to Six Cities

NEW YORK (AP) — The housewives' boycott widened today as shoppers in at least six more cities joined the spreading checkout-counter war.

Some 200 women in Daytona Beach, Fla., announced they would stay away from big chain stores until they rolled back prices, and similar pledges came from consumers in El Paso, Tex., and Hobbs, Carlsbad, Roswell and Albuquerque, N.M.

A leader of the apparently successful Phoenix, Ariz., bread boycott was in Van Nuys, Calif., helping organize a local chapter of "Housewives Voice for Lower Prices" while a spokesman for the group said it had received calls from women in Wisconsin and the Philadelphia area asking how to join.

Boycotts were also reported under consideration in Houston, Arlington and Dallas, Tex.

The developments came as a supermarket executive predicted a possible price war in Denver, the scene of the largest boycott, and a chain of stores in Cincinnati announced a series of price reductions.

Lloyd King, vice president and general manager of King Soopers Stores, said the Denver campaign now in its third day, could result in cut-throat price slashing as markets struggle to maintain their sales.

Moves to Stem Tide

In announcing price reductions in the Alber supermarket chain in the Cincinnati area, E. L. Withers, general manager, said the move was being made to "stem the tide of rising prices and to lower the housewives' food budget to a livable level."

No boycotts or organized campaigns had preceded the price slash. Withers said his stores, facing "the worst profit squeeze in history," would only be able to maintain the reductions through increased sales.

Betty Weleba, head of the Arizona group that has claimed success in its bread boycott, said she had come to Van Nuys, a suburb of Los Angeles, in response to a request from the local protest group, which claims to have been swamped by inquiries from women.

In El Paso, housewives belonging to "El Pasoans for Reasonable Food Prices" said they were handing out protest petitions as fast as they could be made up and hoped to get 1,000 signatures daily.

An immediate response came from a manager of a local chain of stores who promised he would do all he could to bring (Continued on Page 41, Col. 2)

Crash Kills Area Couple

MONROE, N.Y. (AP) — Anthony Lioy, 65, and his wife, Lena, were killed early today when their car and a milk truck collided head-on on Route 17, state police said.

Lioy was attempting to pass another truck at the time, officers said. The milk truck driver, Durwood Tarbox, 54, of Deposit, Broome County, was not injured.

Mr. and Mrs. Lioy lived at Wurtsboro, Sullivan County.

Report Jail Here Close to Capacity For September

At the close of September the Ulster County jail, which has been called inadequate by the State Department of Correction and recommendations made that it be replaced by a new and modern structure, was close to capacity. With a total capacity of 32 males and 14 females, the jail at the close of September housed 57 male prisoners and two females, a total of 59.

According to the monthly report of Sheriff William B. Martin, the section of the jail in which male prisoners are confined held five more prisoners than there are proper facilities.

Cite Lack of Space

Lack of space in the jail for proper classification has long been discussed. A request has been made for the completion of a partially completed upper tier cell block which could house additional prisoners in the main jail. The condition has been brought to the attention of the Board of Supervisors in reports from both the Correction Department and Sheriff Martin as well as prior sheriffs.

On September 1 the total number of prisoners confined to jail was 67 males and two females for a total of 69. During the month of September there were 169 males admitted and 179 discharged. September 1 there were two females confined to jail and nine were admitted during September and nine were discharged, leaving two in jail at the end of the month.

During September, 82 males and two females were admitted for grand jury action or trial. The number sentenced to the jail was 78 males and six females. One debtor was confined to jail and there were eight males and one female committed for other causes. During September 50 males and two females (Continued on Page 41, Col. 8)

Uptown Stores Set Fourth Halloween Painting Contest

The fourth annual Halloween window painting contest sponsored by the Kingston Uptown Business Men's Association for students in local schools will take place this week. It was announced today by Francis H. Kolts, president.

Many of the merchants in the uptown business district will participate by allowing one or more of their store windows to be painted with Halloween scenes. Special paints will be provided free to students entering the contest.

Alliance Trio Reviews Needs to Meet Threat

BONN, Germany (AP) — The United States, Britain and West Germany today began reviewing the future of the Atlantic alliance to determine what strength is now needed to hold off the danger of a Soviet attack on Western Europe.

Top-level officials met privately in the West German foreign ministry this morning.

Expect Accord in Cut

The three major members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization are expected to agree, perhaps by the end of November, on a reduction of both American and British strength on the continent. The United States now maintains about 340,000 men in Western Europe and Britain nearly 60,000.

Any of the Americans could be used in Viet Nam, but American officials say they want to keep the cuts to a minimum.

John J. McCloy, once U. S. high commissioner in Germany, is representing President Johnson. George Thomson, the cabinet minister who deals with European affairs, is speaking for Britain. West Germany's man is Karl Carstens, No. 2 official in the foreign ministry.

Manlio Brosio, NATO's secretary-general, is observing on behalf of the other 12 allies.

The first two days of meetings are being held at the West German foreign ministry. Then the committee will break up for several weeks at least, while lower-level officials draw up reports.

Asking 'Searching Reappraisal'

To please the British, who had expected to be making decisions on troop cuts by now, a first report will be due at the end of November. This will be in time for consideration at the semi-annual meeting of NATO leaders to be held in Paris before Christmas.

A final report will be sought by Jan. 15.

President Johnson and Chan-

Accorded Aussies' Welcome

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — President Johnson arrived in Australia today for an enthusiastic welcome after getting a pledge of allied unity from New Zealand and calling on Hanoi's leaders to join in a "noble war" on hunger, ignorance and disease in Southeast Asia.

The weather cooperated fully for the coming of the first American President to visit Australia. A light rain stopped 10 minutes before the presidential jet landed in Canberra, the capital, and brilliant late afternoon sunshine slanted through the dark gray thunderheads as Johnson, followed by his wife, stepped from the plane to be greeted by Prime Minister Harold Holt.

Mission of Hope

Harking back once again to his World War II visit to Australia and New Zealand as a naval officer, Johnson told the welcoming crowd at the airport he had returned — en route to the Manila conference on Viet Nam — on a mission of hope.

"I cannot say that miracles will occur at Manila," he declared. "The hard work of securing the peace is not done by miracles."

"I cannot say that the hunger and injustice of the past will be ended by a declaration of the seven nations (including Australia) who will meet next week."

"Years must pass, years of dedication and patient effort, before men can make the just society of which they dream," Johnson declared that there is a new vision, "a new hope," in this vast area of the world.

"It is a vision of emancipation — from foreign domination, from tyranny, from the despair that rides with hunger and disease and ignorance. It is the only vision worthy of man's destiny. We shall try to capture a part of that vision at Manila."

A crowd of about 400 that had been the chilly weather and earlier rain cheered loudly and clapped during the President's speech.

Mino Chides Two In Petition Case

Motions in the court hearing to determine the validity of "peace" candidate Eric Lindbloom's nomination petitions in the 28th Congressional District marked Wednesday's proceedings before County Judge Raymond J. Mino, who has been designated by the Supreme Court to hear the matter.

Louis Gottlieb, counsel for the petitioner, Irwin Karchner of Ellenville, put three motions before the court Judge Mino chided both sides for discussing the case in the press.

Noel Tepper, counsel for Lindbloom, said that a subpoena had been issued for the appearance of Congressman Resnick, but admitted the subpoena had not then been served. Resnick is quoted as saying he would be happy to testify. Counsel for Lindbloom contends that while Karchner, an employee of Channel Master in Ellenville in which Congressman Resnick is interested, is not the real party behind the movement to have the Lindbloom petitions thrown out, Gottlieb, counsel for Karchner, called the subpoena for appearance of Resnick "wholly irrelevant" and said it has nothing to do with the case. Congressman Resnick says Karchner is acting wholly on his own.

Stage 67 Offers Gripping Hour; Hope Show Funny

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Confession," the drama on ABC's "Stage 67" Wednesday night was, on the surface, a realistic demonstration of a determined policeman, skilled at extracting confessions, persuading a stunned, sick boy to admit he had murdered his sweetheart. The hour drama, written by David Kahn, opened as the 19-year-old boy and his pregnant girl were making a suicide pact, stuffing cracks of windows and doors in a shabby furnished room and turning on the gas. The girl died but the boy, staggering from the effects of the gas, was taken to a barren back room of a police station for his inquisition by the lieutenant who had announced: "He murdered her — I knew it the moment I saw him."

It was a chilling interrogation, a premeditated series of moods followed by tricky questions designed to entrap and ultimately to destroy. Arthur Kennedy gave a powerful, volatile performance as the cop with a compulsion to play God and judge Brandon De Wilde was excellent as the confused boy.

It was, quite obviously, a drama for adults. A number of words and physical references, not often encountered in prime time television, were used freely.

While it was a gripping hour, the boy's torture did seem to be prolonged beyond its effectiveness. And there was a tidy wrap-up at the end, a kind of snapper that cleared the boy. Without it the program would have had a more searing impact.

Bob Hope, who seems to be delivering entertainment in wholesale lots this season, had 16 top comedians as guest stars Wednesday night on NBC. In his first comedy show of the season, he had 15 women stars who had been his leading ladies.

It was a feat just to find space for so many funnymen, much less provide them with amusing material. But it was a most amusing 60 minutes, since the show was a long, nutty spoof of secret agent shows. Bob in a blond crew cut wig played a mad-chemist with a secret formula to destroy the world. All sorts of agents tried to catch up with him — Dick Shawn as a door-to-door salesman, Rowan and Martin in trenchcoats, Milton Berle as a sexy Spanish dancer, Bill Dana as a dancing bartender, Wally Cox as Mr. Big and Jimmy Durante as a general — and on and on.

ABC dropped the first of several shows Wednesday by confirming that "The Invaders," a science fiction series, will be a January replacement for one of its current programs. The dropped program was not identified.

Rocky Names Three To Unsalaried Jobs

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller announced these appointments today to non-salaried boards of state institutions:

— Bruce McLean, New Hartford, to the Board of Trustees of the Mohawk Valley Community College, for a term ending June 30, 1975, succeeding Willis V. Daugherty, Utica, whose term expired.

— Mrs. Robert Shanahan, East Islip, to the Board of Visitors of the Suffolk State School, for a term ending Dec. 31, 1971.

— David Forbes, East Meadow, to the board of the Suffolk School, for a term ending Dec. 31, 1973.

Democrats Hope To Hold Down Mich. Landslide

By GENE SCHROEDER

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Democrats aren't saying so publicly, but few believe Gov. George Romney can be beaten in his bid for a third term.

Their goal is to whittle Romney's margin to less than the 383,000-vote plurality he rolled up two years ago—and take the sheen off Romney-for-president talk.

That 1964 victory for Republican Romney came amid a Democratic landslide that won control of the legislature and a majority of Michigan's congressional delegation.

If Romney has White House ambitions—and most everybody believes he has—his standing at the 1968 Republican nominating convention would be considerably enhanced if he could score another big victory, and also carry some Republicans into office on his coattails.

More and more, Romney is ignoring his opponent, Democratic State Chairman Zolton Ferency, and working harder to help Sen. Robert P. Griffin against the formidable challenge of former Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Democrats, on the other hand have kept the heavy artillery rolling in—including party-boosing visits by President Johnson, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Sen. Edward F. Kennedy of Massachusetts. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York is expected to visit Michigan before the Nov. 8 balloting.

Republicans countered with appearances by Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania and Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky. Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon also has scheduled a Michigan stop.

But a poll taken by an independent research group for the Detroit News indicates Griffin leads Williams, a six-term governor, 51 to 46 per cent.

The poll apparently reflects

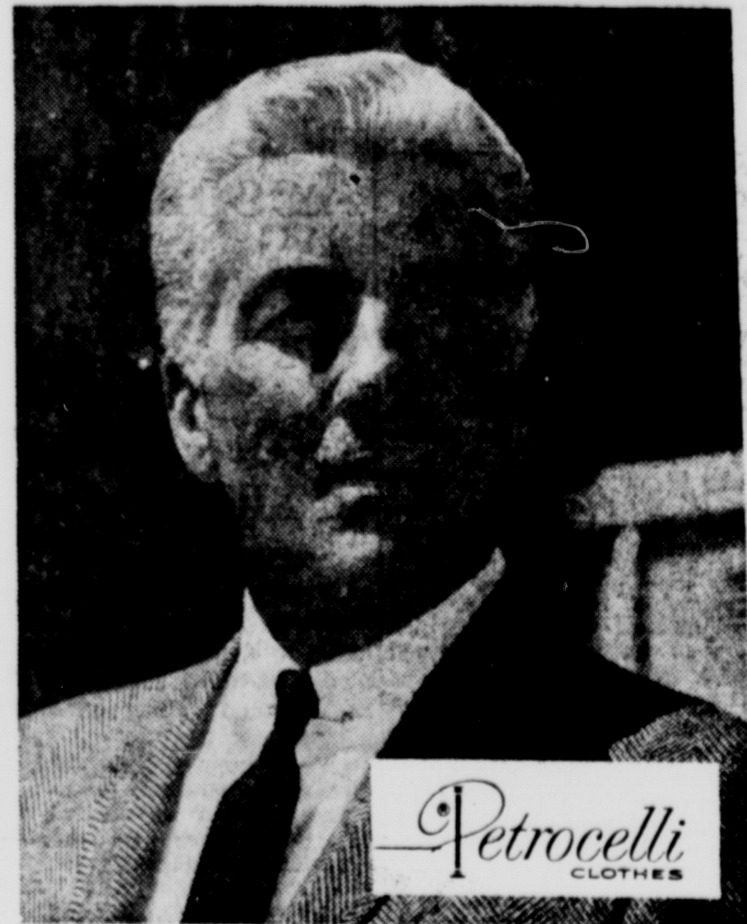

Glenmont Woman Killed

SELKIRK, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Bessie Foster, 61, of the Albany suburb of Glenmont, perished Wednesday in the collision of a truck and the automobile in which she was riding on Route 9W, south of Albany.

Romney's work for Griffin, and the fact that Williams was sidelined for five weeks by a kidney stone operation. Romney, incidentally, led Ferency in the poll 64 to 33.

Ferency, a witty and articulate campaigner who claims he relishes the role of underdog, has kept up a dawn-to-midnight schedule of handshaking and speechmaking, aimed largely at Michigan's big union vote.

On the big national issues—Viet Nam, education, civil rights—Williams and Griffin are not far apart. So the campaigning has centered on the personalities.

McGrath Named Chest Chairman In Marblatown

Wilfred G. Springer, Executive Director of the Ulster County Community Chest, has announced the appointment of Dixon McGrath of Stone Ridge as Marblatown chairman in charge of canvassing.

McGrath is a sixth grade teacher in the Marblatown Elementary School. He is also a lay preacher, supplying the pulpit of the Lyonsville, Reformed Church. He is well-known locally for his annual direction of the faculty plays for the Rondout Valley Teachers' Association.

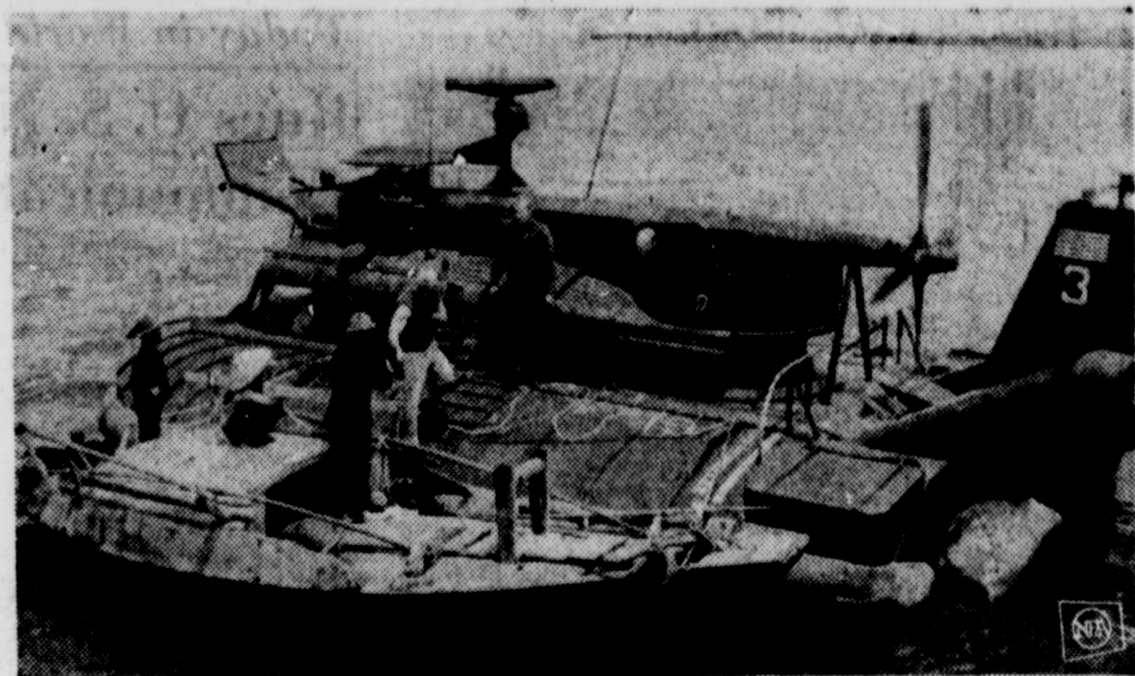

"We are quite enthusiastic about this year's campaign for the Community Chest," said Mr. McGrath. "One gift to the Chest is actually a donation to 13 local service agencies. That's a baker's dozen groups in our county who are here to prove that we can solve many of our own problems. It's a pretty easy way to buy a share of self-reliance."

Hints from Heloise

by Heloise Cruse

Dear Gals:

If you dislike everyday-wear cotton blouses that are manufactured nowadays without pockets...do what I do.

I buy blouses with long or roll-up sleeves, then cut off the bottoms of the sleeves and use the extra material to make pockets.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

My clever husband has cut several pieces of plywood, about 14" x 30", to be used on practically any chair that has flat, upholstered arms.

The children can use them as desks to study and write on.

Alice Jones

Dear Heloise:

When preparing your graham cracker crust for pies, instead of using two pieces of waxed paper to crush the crackers between, use a plastic sandwich bag.

You will not be losing any crumbs and the bag is so easy to pick up to pour the crumbs into your cup for measuring.

L. E. G.

Dear Heloise:

I think I've found a way to keep thin-chain necklaces from getting miserable little knots in them.

When I open mine I hold the end with the big clasp in my fingers and drop the tiny end through a soda straw. Grab the other end and fasten the necklace again. Any straw can be cut shorter for baby necklaces.

Your necklaces can be put in a drawer when fixed like this without getting all tangled.

L. S.

Dear Heloise:

For a temporary typewriter key cleaner, use the filter end of a cigarette.

A Reader

It works!

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Here's another use for nylon net:

Buy the thick sponges which are about 6" x 3" x 2", and cut them in half so they are nearly square.

Cut matching nylon net in large enough squares to wrap the sponges, pulling the ends together on top with thread, and cutting the net off bluntly so that the top looks almost like a bouquet.

Decorate the bouquet with a couple of sprays of plastic flowers and you have a very decorative and useful helper.

The nylon net keeps the sponge from wearing out so rapidly, is abrasive, and the sponge holds the water and soap for cleaning jobs.

These make lovely favors.

Dear Heloise:

For both indoor and outdoor drying of clothing, I put all dresses and shirts on inexpensive plastic hangers.

When I hang them outdoors, I use a small piece of pipe cleaner to twist around the hook of the hanger and line so they can't blow off.

Mrs. Calvin Wolfe

The little plastic-covered wires that come on vegetables are also good for securing hangers onto clotheslines.

Or, using a few feet of small link chain on one end of your clothesline and sticking the hanger hooks into the links, keeps the hangers from falling off the line.

Brydges Hits Dems On Reapportion Issue

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges criticized Assembly Democrats today for failing to enact guidelines for reapportionment of county boards of supervisors.

Brydges pointed out in a statement that the Republican-controlled Senate had passed such a measure during the 1966 legislative session but that the Democratic-ruled Assembly killed it in committee.

He described this as "another major failure...on the part of the Democrats."

Forms Canada Branch

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Textron's Bell Aerosystems Co. has formed a new company in Canada principally to develop full utilization of Bell's air-cushion vehicles, the company president says.

The new company, a division of Textron Canada Ltd., is known as Bell Aerosystems of Canada, William G. Gisel, Bell president, said Wednesday.

The first undertaking of the Canadian firm will be a program to determine the suitability of air-cushion vehicles for coast guard service in Canada. James G. Mill of Toronto was appointed vice president and managing director of the new company, Gisel said.

Debate in U. N. To Open Today On Disarmament

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. disarmament debate opens today with appeals from the United States and the Soviet Union to all nations to refrain from acts that could lead to the spread of nuclear weapons.

U. S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg and Soviet Chief Delegate Nikolai T. Fedorenko were to be the first speakers in the debate in the General Assembly's main political committee.

Draft Stopgap

The United States and the Soviet Union joined in sponsoring a resolution containing the appeal which delegates are pushing as a stopgap until agreement can be reached on a treaty banning the spread of nuclear arms.

Conclusion of the pact has been stalemated by U. S.-Soviet differences over what role West Germany would play in the nuclear defense of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The Soviet Union contends that the treaty version proposed by the United States will permit West Germany to obtain nuclear weapons. The United States has indicated this would not happen, but it is bound by commitments to its NATO allies. West Germany as a partner wants a say in the control of the alliance's nuclear arms.

The question hinges on whether West Germany, which formally renounced nuclear weapons on being admitted to NATO in 1955, will demand atomic hardware or settle for a role as a nuclear planner.

Will Not Press

The British believe that Germany will not press for arms and that the Soviets will not object if the Bonn government is limited to a planning role.

The U. S.-Soviet appeal echoes previous requests to the nuclear powers not to share their stockpiles and to non-nuclear nations not to accept such weapons.

The debate gets underway amid mounting reports that Red

China might set off its fourth nuclear test — a hydrogen bomb device.

Before embarking on his far eastern tour, President Johnson conferred with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and with representatives of two NATO allies, West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard and British Foreign Secretary George Brown.

Johnson's talks with all three were believed to have covered the questions of West German access to nuclear arms and prospects of Soviet agreement to a nonproliferation pact.

The United States abandoned the practice of making treaties with the Indian tribes in 1871, but still recognizes treaties made prior to that time.

The sky is falling.

Mary Pickford's Taming of Shrew In Big Demand

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)

Presenting — "Taming of the Shrew," starring the movies' highest-paid, most popular couple, she in her first Shakespearean role.

Does that sound like Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton in their latest film? Yes, but the description also fits a movie that was made 37 years ago and soon will be seen once more by film audiences.

On Nov. 4, the Mary Pickford-Douglas Fairbanks version of the Shakespeare comedy will open an engagement at the Tivoli Plaza Theater in West Los Angeles. Matty Kemp, who oversees the Pickford film interests, explained how it came about.

"The whole thing started last year when the Cinematheque Francaise in Paris wanted to have a retrospective tribute to Mary. At first she was reluctant to accept. She had bought up as many of her old films as she could find and held onto them jealously. She said that she had pleased her own generation and she wanted the films to be destroyed at her death.

"But many people, including myself, convinced her that the films should be preserved, since the history of the motion picture could not be told without including her. She agreed to the Paris invitation, and I put together a show that included portions of 26 films from 'The New York Hat' with D. W. Griffith (1910) to 'Secrets' (1933).

"The response from the Parisians was phenomenal. After the 'Taming of the Shrew' sequence they rose for a standing ovation.

"Mary was amazed. The next day in her hotel room she said, 'I can't believe it; they liked 'The Shrew.' She never had. She didn't want to do the movie; it was all Doug's idea."

But she went ahead with the film, her first talkie and the only movie she ever made with Fairbanks. Sam Taylor directed and edited the script, leading to the immortal credit line: "Play by William Shakespeare, additional dialogue by Sam Taylor." The movie cost $1.3 million, a monumental amount in those days. It was not a commercial success, the market for Shakespeare being considerably smaller than it is today.

Glazer Attends Biology Parley

Unchecked human population expansion was discussed at the recent 17th annual meeting of the American Institute of Biological Societies attended by Richard B. Glazer, an associate professor of biology at Ulster County Community College.

There were sessions on human population growth and the quality of life which dealt with the problems, both biological and sociological, of the unchecked human population expansion, according to Professor Glazer.

"Discussed," the professor said, "were the effects of this expansion on food sources, space for habitation as well as the biological effects of overcrowding (which exists in our major cities), as the sociological and economic patterns."

There was a symposium on the biologist and his role in the preservation of the natural environment. In addition papers were presented on various topics.

The meeting was conducted at the University of Maryland, College Park, Md.

The American Institute of Biological Sciences is the professional biological society consisting of more than 24 representatives of biological professions.

The AIBS was founded in 1947 to further the advancement for the biological, medical and agricultural sciences and their application to human welfare. In addition, the Institute fosters, encourages and conducts research in the biological sciences and co-operates with local, national, and international organizations concerned with biological sciences.

There are 43 adherent societies and 26 industrial members, with an approximate membership of over 70,000 biologists.

$180 to Wash Wallet

Bamberg told police he had left his wallet containing $950 in his pillow while he was being X-rayed.

When he returned to his room, he found his bed had been changed and the pillow case, wallet and money gone.

Police found the wet billfold and $770 of the money logging around in a washing machine in the hospital laundry.

HAMBURG, N.Y. (AP) —

Daniel Jasiura, 16, of Hamburg, was shot fatally Wednesday when, police said, a 22-gauge shotgun, carried by his teen-aged hunting companion, discharged accidentally in this community south of Buffalo.

Police said Daniel and his companion, Robert A. Pettis, 16, also of Hamburg, were crossing railroad tracks in a wooded area when the weapon discharged. The shot struck Daniel in the chest.

The teen-agers were hunting pheasants, police said.

Daniel was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jasiura. Daniel lived at 26 Lake View Ave.

Today's Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The current higher interest rates in this country may be helping improve the U.S. balance of payments situation, thus giving an assist to government efforts to stem the flow of dollars abroad. These rates, which are berated by borrowers and loved by lenders, might be damaging domestically. But when viewed in terms of dollar stability they may not be looked on with disfavor by the Treasury.

One of the most immediate effects of the higher rates has been to keep money invested here rather than in Europe or other continents. Since some U.S. rates are as high as they've been since the Civil War, the return to the lender matches that of many other countries. Since last year, the capital outflow has been decreasing, and the inflow of money from abroad has been rising.

The United States is still just about the best investment there is. Knowing this, many foreign sources of capital prefer to hold a claim against the dollar rather than against other currencies. Relatively, the risk is zero. In the first half of 1965 the outflow of funds — other than gold and long-term deposits — leaving the country was at the rate of $1.8 billion. In the first half of this year it was down to a rate of $2.45 billion.

Some of the inflow could be American money being sent back from abroad. American companies need money. If they have it in London, for example, they might decide they need it more here.

Hot Foreign Money
Homer suspects, however, that some recent inflow may be "hot" foreign money, that is, money seeking the highest interest rate at the lowest relative risk. If this is so, some of these funds might take flight again as easily as they could remain nested.

High interest, ironically, can also contribute to an outflow of dollars simply because of the high interest payments to foreign investors. This amount is relatively small, however, if the investment itself remains here. Security as well as interest is the attraction of investing in the United States. Many nations have much higher rates. Korea, to cite an extreme example, has a basic rate of 28 per cent. But few investors wish to risk their money there.

Housewives Hit Many Obstacles In War on Prices

By SALLY RYAN
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Frustrated housewives are running into trouble with everyone from district attorneys to their own husbands in their organized attempts to cut food prices.

In Portland, Ore., the district attorney started an investigation of the grocery price war that has seen milk drop to 18 cents a gallon.

Milk Giveaway
One store even was giving away a gallon of milk, a loaf of bread and a pint of cottage cheese with every purchase.

In Van Nuys, Calif., housewives ran into objections from their husbands when they tried to organize.

The housewives have claimed some victories. In Denver, Colo., a major supermarket chain faced with a threatened boycott, cut prices at all its 46 stores in Colorado.

In Portland, a group of war on poverty workers organized a car pool to ferry residents of a low-income, primarily Negro area to supermarkets across the Willamette River offering free bread.

Suggest Private Label

In New York, the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co., the nation's largest grocery chain, expressed sympathy for the housewives and suggested they could save 20 per cent by buying private label brands.

Quite aside from the boycotts and price wars, the housewife is in for some good news. Wholesale food prices dropped this week for the fifth straight week, and now are running only 3.7 per cent higher than a year ago. At one time they were nearly 15 per cent higher.

Egg prices are down another 1 cent a dozen in San Francisco and 2 cents in New York. Butter prices are down sharply, and margarine has dropped, too.

Beef supplies also are greater, leading to the prospect of price cuts.

Lodge 343 Fetes Heffernan for Years of Service

Rondout Lodge 343, Free and Accepted Masons, honored Right Worshipful Richard W. Heffernan in the Masonic Temple Monday night for his many years of outstanding service to Rondout Lodge and the Masonic fraternity in general.

Joined 35 Years Ago
Right Worshipful Heffernan joined Rondout Lodge 35 years ago serving as its Worshipful Master for two terms 1940 and 1941; as Assistant Grand Lecturer of the Greene-Ulster District for 1942-43 and District Deputy Grand Master for 1946-47. He is a member of Mt. Horeb Chapter 75, Royal Arch Masons; Rondout Commandery 52, Knights of Templar, having served as its Eminent Commander in 1948; member of Cyprus Temple, Order of the Mystic Shrine and the Ulster County Shrine Club. Also member of the Rondout Craftsmen's Club and served for many years as trustee of the Masonic Temple.

Right Worshipful Frank J. Strobel, chairman of the committee on arrangements, presided and in keeping with the theme "This Is Your Masonic Life" Right Worshipful Richard W. Heffernan called on Worshipful Brother Charles W. Shults who was master of Rondout Lodge when his petition was presented. Worshipful Brother Fred P. Carpenter who had served as an officer under him when he was Master; Worshipful Brother Donald H. Schoonmaker Sr., president of the Board of Trustees of the Masonic Temple; Worshipful Brother Paul Jones for Mt. Horeb Chapter; Right Worshipful Fred L. VanDeusen for Rondout Commandery and Worshipful Brother William A. Evans for Rondout Craftsmen's Club.

Others on Program

During the ceremonies Worshipful Brother Alex Woolf presented Right Worshipful Heffernan with a beautiful hand-engraved testimonial, the workmanship of Brother Lowell E. Hellard.

A large number of present and past Grand Lodge officers; present and past Assistant Grand Lecturers; present and past Masters of lodges in the district and members of Rondout Lodge and lodges in the surrounding area were present to pay tribute to the honored guest.

Refreshments were prepared and served in the dining room following the program by the wives of several members of the lodge under the chairmanship of Mrs. Frank J. Strobel and a social hour enjoyed.

Bus Taxation Pact
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson had on his desk today a measure that would permit Massachusetts to enter into a bus taxation agreement with New York State, Pennsylvania, Maine, New Hampshire and Maryland.

A Senate and House conference completed congressional action on the legislation Wednesday.

GETTING TOGETHER during a checkout of a mock-up model at Cape Kennedy are the two parts of the lunar landing vehicle designed to get astronauts to the surface and back to their spacecraft on the first Apollo journey to the moon. The two-man cab, top, and the descent stage, bottom, will be joined for the moon landing. The descent stage will serve as a launch platform and remain on the lunar surface when the ascent cab takes off to rejoin the orbiting Apollo spacecraft.

Workshop Night Held By Local Camera Club

Members and guests of the Kingston Camera Club enjoyed a "workshop" night recently.

Gene and Mary Patryk of Saugerties prepared three displays and lectured on the subject "Table Top Photography." The discussion was supplemented by demonstrations and covered lighting, angles, composition, positioning, and back lighting.

Through practical demonstrations and participation by the audience the subject was clearly presented and enjoyed by all. A short business meeting, refreshments, and a question and answer period concluded the evening. The next meeting was scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 2, at the Artcraft Camera Gallery, 694 Broadway, Kingston.

Mt. Tremper

MT. TREMPER — Mrs. Burr Demming was a dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Phillips recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Townsend of Flushing, L. I. spent the weekend at their cottage.

Pace Prexy Named

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Edward J. Martola, president of Pace College in New York City, will serve as the new president of the State Association of Colleges and Universities.

Martola was elected Wednesday to succeed Buell G. Gallagher, president of City College of New York.

Also elected at the final session of the group's two-day annual meeting at Ithaca College were Foster S. Brown, president of St. Lawrence University, vice president, and W. Allen Wallis, president of the University of Rochester, secretary-treasurer.

Dear Abby . . .

Daughter's Sense Better Than Mom's

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our 27-year-old daughter, who has been teaching school, asked us to come to the city (we live in the country) so we could meet the man she has decided to marry. He is 30, wears glasses, is bald and can't dance. They want to marry within the next few months. My husband and I are at a loss.

A few years ago our daughter wouldn't even date a man unless he was good looking and could dance. We are concerned about whether she will be happy with him. He is quiet, educated, owns his own business and treats her well. Should we give them our blessings?

AT A LOSS
DEAR AT: Are they asking for your permission or for your blessings? Your daughter shows better sense today than she did a "few years ago" when she refused to go out with a man unless he was good looking and could dance. Give them your blessings and don't be concerned.

DEAR ABBY: There are some newcomers who live on the edge of town. They have about nine kids. These people (the whole family!) came to church last Sunday in a dump truck. And Abby, I am not saying they weren't clean, but they sure didn't look like they were dressed up for church to me.

Don't you think this shows lack of respect for the Lord? And shouldn't someone in the community tell these people? I am not a snob, but I think appearances are important.

NO SNOB
DEAR NO: I doubt if the Lord cares how people dress for church or how they get there, as long as they go.

DEAR ABBY: A woman I know ever so slightly makes a fetish out of "remembering" people's birthdays and anniversaries. The moment she meets someone she asks when his birthday is. She writes it down and sure enough on that day comes a card from this woman! Half the people she sends cards to don't even know who she is.

I rarely see her, yet she sends me, my husband and all our children birthday cards. She even remembers my anniversary. It is terribly embarrassing because I don't know her birthday, anniversary, or any of her children's birthdays. Besides, it's a bore having to drop her a note to thank her for her "thoughtfulness."

It's not that she is especially fond of me; she does this to people she hardly knows, and I've heard them say they wished she wouldn't. What is wrong with her and how do I cope with it?

EMBARRASSED: The poor woman is desperately bidding for attention and is more to be pitied than censured. Thank her for her "thoughtfulness" and let it go at that.

How has the World been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal, unpublished reply, enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Bids SEC Revoke Registration of Syracuse Firm

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Syracuse, N.Y., brokerage house was under fire today from the Securities and Exchange Commission, which had before it a recommendation to revoke the firm's registration.

Commissioner Examiner Warren E. Blair recommended Wednesday revocation of the broker-dealer registration of Billings Associates Inc.

In addition, Blair also called for sanctions against seven individuals in the case, which now is subject to commission review.

The SEC said Blair's decision was based upon findings that the firm and individuals, including Pearne Billings, company president and principal stockholder, had violated antifraud provisions of the securities law.

The examiner recommended that Billings and Judson Dockstader, vice president, be barred from future association with any securities firm, except in a non-supervisory capacity.

Blair also suggested the four-month suspension of William J. Irving and the three-month suspension of Arthur E. Laudenslager and Hedley Moore, all salesmen. Two other persons not employed by the firm, Mitchell Steklof and Morris Cohen, would be barred from any future association with any securities firm under the recommendation.

The sky is falling.

UCT Will Fete Supreme Head On October 26

Supreme Counselor Orville Ruby will make an official visit to Kingston Lodge, 356, United Commercial Travelers, it was announced today.

A dinner in Ruby's honor will be held Wednesday, Oct. 26, at the Casablanca Restaurant, 602 Broadway, starting at 7:30 o'clock.

Accompanying Ruby and his wife will be Supreme Field representative for the State of New York, F. Charles Grummond, Mrs. Ruby will be entertained at a dinner at the UCT Auxiliary at the Gov. Clinton Hotel. Auxiliary members may contact Mrs. Lillian Feldman for reservations.

Ruby was born on a farm in Furnas County, Neb. He attended a country grade school, and in 1922 was graduated from Orleans, Nebraska High School. He also attended Grand Island Business College from 1924 to 1926. He worked as a salesman for an office equipment firm in Grand Island for four years. He founded the Nebraska Office Service Company, an office supply, equipment, and printing company of which he has been owner and manager for the past 35 years.

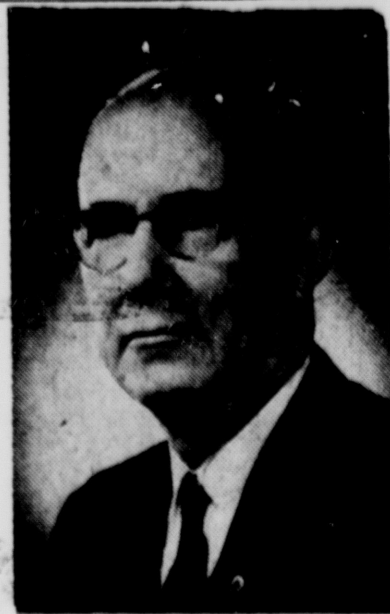

Ruby joined the United Commercial Travelers in 1935 and has been most active since that time. He served as senior counselor in 1947-48, was elected Grand Sentinel in 1949, and served as Grand Counselor of Nebraska in 1953-54.

He has served on the grand public relations committee several times. For the three years he was the chairman of that committee, Nebraska increased their membership by 1,300.

He is a past president of the Grand Counselors Association and has served on various Supreme Committees. In 1962, he was elected supreme sentinel and now holds the office of supreme counselor.

He is a member of the First Baptist Church; and his other fraternal and civic club affiliations include Elks Club, Liederkranz Society, Kiwanis, and Eagles.

Ruby and his wife, Belva, have four children — Gary, Evain, Sandra, and Jana; and they have eight grandchildren.

Governor Evades O'Connor, Queens DA Hentel Feud

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) Gov. Rockefeller refused today to be drawn into a developing feud between the Democratic gubernatorial hopeful, Frank D. O'Connor, and Republican Dist. Atty. Nat Hentel of Queens.

"Absolutely untrue," an aide to Rockefeller said late Wednesday night when informed that O'Connor had charged Rockefeller engineered the alleged disappearance of files from the Queens County district attorney's office.

O'Connor once headed the office. The governor appointed Hentel to succeed O'Connor when he became New York City Council president.

The files allegedly dealt with the activities of labor racketeering and loan-sharking. O'Connor accused Rockefeller of arranging the situation in an effort to embarrass the Democrat before the Nov. 8 election.

Meanwhile, the governor began the final day of his last major Upstate campaign swing with the revelation that he had asked the State Bureau of Aviation to study the needs of non-commercial aviation in the state.

"There can be no doubt of the direct relationship between economic growth and . . . adequate facilities for private and corporate aircraft," the governor said in a speech prepared for delivery to the State Association of Industrial Development Agencies Inc., meeting here.

Rockefeller said he would ask the aviation bureau to "develop a plan charting the future needs of general aviation in the state as a whole for the next 10 or 15 years."

The speech was one of several on the Republican governor's schedule as he wound up his three-day Upstate tour that included stops in Syracuse, Rochester, Buffalo, Fulton, Lowville and Watertown.

Workers Named For West Hurley Boy Scout Drive

Volunteer teams to represent the Boy Scouts in collection in West Hurley for the 1966 Boy Scout Fund campaign have been formed, town chairman David L. Sullivan revealed today.

He praised the response of West Hurley residents who have volunteered to call upon their neighbors in the interests of the Boy Scouts.

"More than 60 Scout-minded persons are preparing to make a concerted effort to assure the success of the 1966 drive," Sullivan explained.

"These volunteers, and many others who will assist in various ways, are fully aware of the necessity to raise sufficient funds to assure that Scouting's growth in West Hurley, and the 24 other Greene and Ulster County towns that make up the Rip Van Winkle Council will continue."

In Ulster County, the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, is a participating agency of the Ulster County Community Chest, which, in addition to the Kingston area, now includes the towns of Saugerties, Esopus, Rosendale, Marbletown, and New Paltz.

The 1966 campaign theme is Scouting Builds Better Men. Majors, team captains, and team members for the campaign in West Hurley follow.

For West Hurley Village, Major Allen L. Anthony has recruited team Captains Edouard M. Blatter, Edward R. Dunn, Richard S. Gibbs and Arthur Rice, and they in turn are assisted by Salesmen Ronald Every, Herbert L. Lacey, Parker A. Black, Richard E. Bradley and Peter F. Sammons.

In North Hurley Ridge, Major William L. Burgin has recruited team Captains Charles A. Carlson and Jack Gibson and they are currently depending upon Salesmen Warren F. Neals, Robert F. Short, Donald G. Croul and Gunther Zoehfeld.

Major Robert E. Friday, Mayor

erick Park, has obtained support from Captains Earl C. Hancock, Donald A. Lawson Jr., Soeren Soeren, Alan W. Sparks and Stanley J. Tentnowski and salesmen teams including Oser Berntsen, Frederick C. Gielow Jr., William Savage, John Stay, William A. Steuding, Salvador Ciccarino, Robert D. Durand, James J. LaRue, Hubert Miller, Robert F. Terwilliger, Leonard E. Waters, Martin Becker, Robert A. Chieffo, Keith C. Ogden, Fred R. Silvernail and Nicholas C. Stafford.

Major Alexander Hossack in Tanglewood has recruited Salesmen Jim Carrazo, Ronald B. Hurley, Joseph F. Murphy and James R. Wood.

In South Hurley Ridge, Major Robert L. Powers is assisted by Captains Gordon R. Krueger, Charles R. Pettie and William K. Wakefield, and Salesmen Jack P. Bennett, Paul D. Holly, Donald K. Moyer, Floyd A. Harkin, Kenneth J. Flynn and Harry Mirick.

Chairman D. L. Sullivan is assisting in canvassing the area south of Route 28 and has the help of Jack Armstrong, Dominick Castaldo, David R. Fox and Arthur Gray.

Major Lloyd W. Lund has the help of Burton Dietz, Harrison K. Rose, Noble J. Garrison and Allen F. Nissen in canvassing Route 28 businessmen and private homes.

Rudolph T. Hellenschmidt will serve as Auditor for the West Hurley Boy Scout Financial Campaign and will offer his place of business at Mason's Shopping Plaza, Route 375, West

Honest Packaging Bill Has Cleared Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill intended to protect shoppers against unfair or deceptive methods of packaging and labeling consumer goods has cleared Congress after five years of effort.

But the two senators most responsible for its passage, Sens. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., and Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., do not see eye to eye on it.

Congressional action was completed Wednesday with Senate acceptance of what virtually was the version the House insisted on—rather than the bill the Senate originally passed. Magnuson, chairman of the

West Shokan

WEST SHOKAN—The IOOF annual roast beef supper sponsored by Shokan Lodge and the cooperating Olive Rebekah members resembled an area old home coming and proved very successful. Although not as largely attended as last year the event netted approximately $350. Center tables were decorated with colorful autumn flowers and the sidewalls with sprays of leafy tree branches.

The interim pastor, Julian Morton, of the Olive Shokan Baptist Church administered the sacred rite of baptism to a group of five candidates in the town swimming pool recently. The candidates were Mrs. James Wilson and sons, Alfred and Robert; Gail Nicholas and Shirley Every. They received the right hand of fellowship at the morning church services on Sunday, Oct. 16. This is the first outdoor baptismal ceremony connected with the local church in some 70 years.

The first two weeks of November Charles Wood is holding a one-man art show at the Olive Free Library. A group of 12 or 15 pictures will be shown.

The final meeting of the season for the Tongue Garden Club was held at the home of Mrs. H. Edgar Timmerman last Thursday. Mrs. Swan B. Brewster, the retiring president, installed officers for the ensuing year as follows: President, Mrs. Friedberg; vice-president, Mrs. Ray Cruthers; secretary, M. T. Kewitt; treasurer, Mrs. H. Edgar Timmerman.

To go "up" in Egypt is to go south, because going up means following the course of the Nile upstream.

BOMBING UPWARD is a possible new aerial warfare technique now under study by the Air Force. The principle is similar to ejection escape seats long in use which propel a pilot bailing out upward and clear of his damaged plane. Bombs would be positioned atop wings of low-level, supersonic attack jets, as shown in artist's conception at top. At bottom, left to right, is the attack sequence: With the plane zeroed in on target, an explosive gas cartridge shoots a bomb upward like a rocket at 100 feet per second. The bomb then falls free onto the target while the plane escapes the blast zone. Preliminary research indicates ejection bombing might be both more accurate and safer, enabling pilots to escape at radar-avoiding low altitudes instead of being compelled to pull up and away to escape the blast as required in present drop-bombing techniques. Ejection bombing could be used to deliver both conventional and nuclear bombs.

1,000 SECONDS FROM HOME

During the fiery descent to earth, the blunt "nose" of the Apollo spacecraft is exposed to temperatures up to 20,000 degrees.

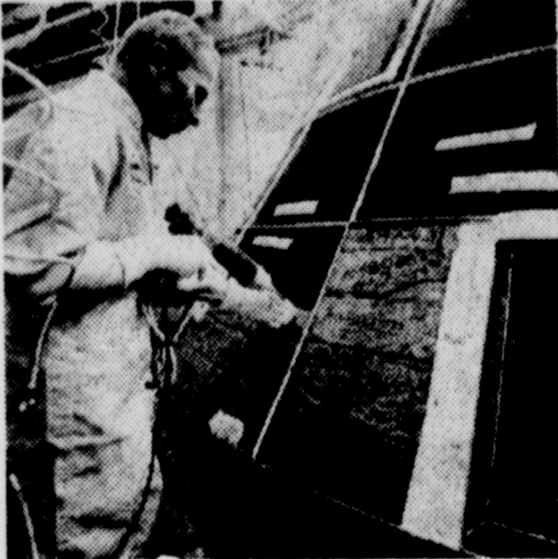

Laboratory simulation of re-entry conditions enables technicians at Avco Corp., Wilmington, Mass., developers of the shield, to test behavior of the shield.

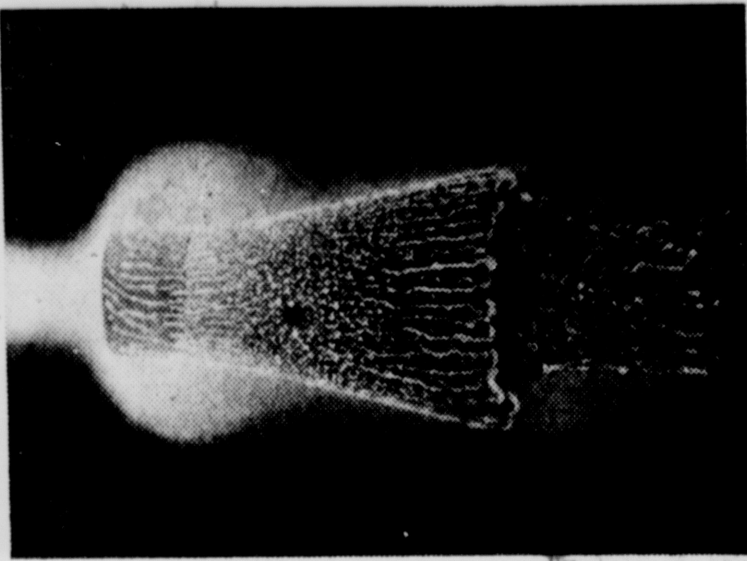

Plummeting toward earth at 25,000 miles per hour, three American astronauts on the first manned Apollo flight will begin the final and most dangerous lap of their history-making journey when they enter the atmosphere at 400,000 feet above the planet's surface. For 16 minutes the passage through the heat barrier will expose the spacecraft to metal-melting temperatures. To guarantee safe passage, a special honeycomb heat shield has been developed. It already has passed its first test with flying colors in the launching of an unmanned Apollo capsule.

The honeycomb is positioned over the aluminum cockpit and the inner smooth stainless steel heat shield. Each of the 370,000 cells is then filled by hand with resin.

Subjected to an inferno of 20,000 degrees, a sample shield the size of a baseball bat drips as it absorbs the intense heat to prevent it from reaching and melting the inner heat shield and cockpit.

The heat shield consumes itself in withstanding the high re-entry temperatures. The fused resin is captured in the still-intact honeycomb cell system.

Stolen Property Charge

Charged with illegal possession of stolen property, Gary Lee Johnson, 21, who gave his address as Evergreen Hotel, Town of Ulster, appeared before Justice of the Peace Arthur A. Reilly Wednesday and waived preliminary examination. The case was referred to the grand jury and Johnson was committed to the county jail. He was charged with possessing stolen rings and watches. BCI Investigator John Saliers, Sheriff William B. Martin and Deputy James Milesky investigated the case.

Charge Withdrawn

A charge dealing with a malicious telephone call lodged recently against Reuben Maben, 57, of Box 214, Walton Lane, was withdrawn in city court today. It was alleged that he had made a threat against a Delaware Avenue woman by telephone.

500 Reds Killed

HONG KONG (AP) — Anti-Communist Hong Kong papers said today that more than 400 Communist cadres and Red Guards were killed or injured Oct. 10 in an explosion in Swatow, on the China Sea coast.

The Chinese-language Tin Tin Yat Po said the explosion occurred in a theater in which hundreds of communists were celebrating the Oct. 10 national day.

Three other anti-Communist papers carried similar stories. Among the dead, Tin Tin said, was Wang Yi-chi, deputy mayor of Swatow.

Enforce New Law

Twenty summonses have been issued by Kingston State Police in the last two days to motorists who have violated a new section of the Vehicle and Traffic Law, which became effective on Oct. 1. Trooper David Wachtel said that Section 1225 of the V. & T. Law prohibits motorists from taking short cuts by driving through parking lots or driveways to avoid an intersection or traffic control devices similar to the one at Route 9W and Boices Lane. Until Tuesday, troopers had been issuing warnings to motorists caught violating the section, but since then violators are summoned to court.

Beacon Area Fire

Firemen from all Beacon companies and units from Slater Chemical Co., Glenham, battled flames that destroyed a huge unoccupied barn on the Palas-on-Hudson estate at Dutchess Junction north of Fishkill for several hours Wednesday night and early today. The barn 100 by 40 feet was leveled despite efforts of firefighters. Last year fire of undetermined origin destroyed the large mansion on the estate. The fire was discovered at about 10:30 p. m. and firemen were at the scene until after 5 a. m. today. Flames from the burning building could be seen for miles along the Hudson Valley.

To Debate on TV

NEW YORK (AP) — Six Up-state television stations plan to televise live a debate between the four gubernatorial candidates Oct. 29.

A spokesman for WABC-TV said Thursday that the stations had made arrangements to pick up its broadcast of the debate. Other stations are also expected to offer the 6:30 to 7:30 p. m. show, he said.

The stations participating are: WAST, Albany; WNY, Syracuse; WKBW, Buffalo; WKTV, Utica; WORK, Rochester; and WBGA, Binghamton.

Trial for Mass Murder

ESSEN, Germany (AP) — Three former SS Elite Guard officers went on trial Wednesday on charges of murder or aiding in murder in the deaths of 700 Russian Jews. Friedrich Meyer, 55; Klaus Hueser, 57; and Eberhard Stanke, 52, were accused of commanding or taking part in mass shootings of men, women and children at Minsk in 1941.

Teachers Parley Slated Friday at Rondout Valley

Teachers and administrators of Sullivan and Ulster County will be attending the fall New York State Teachers Association professional teachers meeting at the Rondout Valley High School Friday.

The conference theme is Human Communications, the development of man as a human being through the inter-relatedness of learning experiences.

The conference will be comprised of five speakers on the human communication theme. The keynote speaker is LeRoy J. Butz, associate professor at the State University at Plattsburgh. Butz possesses a rich background in both the liberal arts and curriculum development at the elementary and secondary level.

The other speakers are Mrs. Katherine Wagenföhr, teacher and coordinator of the Fine Arts Department at the Rondout Valley High School, speaking on the Visual Arts; Dr. Edward T. Green, superintendent of schools, City of Oneida, speaking on the Listening Arts; Gary Long, teacher of dramatics, speaking on the Language Arts; and David Trachtenberg, currently director of the Federally Aided Programs, Middletown Public Schools, speaking on the Social Sciences.

Hints Tuition Cuts For Community School

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — State Comptroller Arthur Levitt says students at some community colleges in New York State may expect a reduction in tuition.

Levitt said Wednesday that, as a result of an audit by his department, the State University had agreed to a reduction in the fee. Neither the University nor Levitt specified the amount of the cut or which colleges would be affected.

Levitt said an audit by the state agency had indicated that tuition was "too high" in relation to operating costs.

How Sea Was Named

Most biologists assume the name for the Red Sea originated from the presence of tiny, red-pigmented organisms in its waters. These organisms, at certain seasons, proliferate extraordinarily and cause what we sometimes call "red tide."

WOODSTOCK NEWS

Fish Reception Held in Village

A reception for Hamilton Fish Jr., Republican candidate for Congress, was recently held at the home of Mrs. John Egan of Woodstock. Organizations represented were the Senior Citizens, Tuesday Club and Taxpayers Association. Fish spoke on the benefits of Social Security and the many changes that could be beneficial to our senior citizens. He stressed the importance to vote for men running for the Constitutional Convention, and said he felt the men running were men with experience and know how, and that the decisions made by the 1967 State Constitutional convention will have a far-reaching effect on everyone for many years to come.

John Pike, famous Watercolorist, spoke on his personal feelings of many of the Woodstock artists, and what they as each individual felt was their contribution to art.

Mrs. Brock Brokenshaw, wife of the famous artist, spoke on her personal feeling on the arts in Woodstock. LaMonte Marvin, father of movie star, Lee Marvin, expressed his feelings by saying "Ham Fish is a native to this soil and felt he would make a fine representative for us in Congress."

Jaycees Slate Two Halloween Parties

The Woodstock Jaycees are again staging the annual Halloween party for both children and teenagers.

The teenagers party will be held Saturday night, Oct. 29, from 8 to 12 midnight at West Hurley fire hall. All teenagers between 13-18 from the West Hurley, Woodstock and the surrounding areas are invited. There will be live music by one of the local rock and roll bands, plus refreshments. A small donation will help cover the costs.

On Sunday afternoon, Oct. 30, from 3:30 to 6 all youngsters are invited to meet the ghosts and goblins from the area. A free childrens party, with games, awards, pumpkin carving contest and costume judging will be held at the West Hurley Fire Hall. Everyone is invited. This has been a favorite party for the area kiddies for the past two years and this year the Jaycees are planning the greatest party ever.

State Lottery Topic At Christ Lutheran

The proposed lottery amendment to the State Constitution will be the focus of the sermon at Christ's Lutheran Church, Woodstock Sunday. The Rev. Norman C. Krapf, pastor, will preach on the topic: November Imperative — Stop the Spread of the Gambling Cancer. Pastor Krapf feels that this extension of gambling, if approved, will be detrimental to community life as may be seen by considering the results of the increased legalization of gambling in New Hampshire and Great Britain.

One of the finest films of the life of Christ will be shown at the Woodstock Theatre Sunday and Monday at 8 p. m. The Gospel According to St. Matthew, has received high acclaim from the critics including the Rev. Edgar S. Brown Jr., Th.D., director of the Commission on Worship of the Lutheran Church in America. In a recent article in The Lutheran, the church's monthly magazine, Dr. Brown lauded the film and urged his readers not to miss it.

Daughter Baptized

Barbra Michelle Hoffman, born June 20, 1966, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hoffman of West Hurley, was baptized at a service on October 16th by the Rev. Mr. Donald E. Hicks at Woodstock Dutch Reformed Church, with Mr. Allen Anthony of West Hurley the Elder in Attendance.

Chamber Names Artists to Judge Halloween Work

John Pike, Robert Angeloch and Dave Huffine, Woodstock artists are the judges in the Halloween window painting contest, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

The contest is for grade school and junior high school students who will be competing for 18 cash awards. Contestants will paint Woodstock store windows using water colors in executing designs in the Halloween spirit. Judging will be made Halloween night, Oct. 31.

The following Woodstock businesses are cooperating with the Chamber of Commerce and area schools in the contest: Andersen Hardware, Hilda Lightstone, Inc., John's Barber Shop, Jugger's Book Shop, Bob's Gun and Rifle, Woodstock Eatery, Barber Shop, Post's Liquor Store, Studio Shop, the Little Shop, Colonial Pharmacy, Mower's Food Market, Jack Citroen, News Shop, Cousins Home Appliance, Woodstock Sport Shop, Ann's Delicatessen, Bonnie's, H. Houst and Son, Woodstock Liquor Store.

Also Basil Hairdresser, Gift Box, Schneider's on the Corner, Woodstock Bakery, National Bank of Orange and Ulster Counties, Rondout Bank, A and P Company, Grand Union Company, Village Gulf Gas, Dietz Mobil Station, Woodstock Meat Market, Dot's Ice Cream, Woodstock Garage, Peper's Garage and S. C. Schultz Real Estate.

Students interest in the contest is at high pitch and it is expected that Woodstock will be one of the best Halloween decorated villages in the State.

Will Read 'Judith' On Tuesday Night

The Playreading Unit of the Performing Arts of Woodstock will read Judith by Giradoux Tuesday, Oct. 25 at the Crosswell home, 41 Glasco Turnpike off Rock City Road.

Judith was performed for the first time in this country in 1965 by the APA repertory group in New York and starred Rosemary Harris. The technical director of the New York production will be at the reading. All those interested are invited to attend.

Data Book Notes 5,400 Increase

According to recent figures published in the 1966 Ulster County Data Book, pupil enrollment in public schools in the county has increased by 5,400 pupils from 1960 to 1965, increasing at an average rate of 5 per cent per year. This trend always accompanies rapid sustained population growth as experienced in Ulster in recent years, where the bulk of population growth results from the movement of families into the area, the report said. From 1950 to 1960 almost 70 per cent of the total population increase experienced in Ulster was accounted for by in-migration.

While there are no county population estimates for 1965 that indicates changes in total population by age-groups that took place since 1960, from 1950 to 1960 two-thirds of the population increase recorded was within the school age groups, ages 5 to 14, while the total population in Ulster grew by 28 per cent. Population estimates for Ulster County in 1965 indicate a slight decline in the rate of population growth from 1960, reflecting a slow down in the rate of movement of families from other areas into the county.

However, public school enrollment did increase at twice the rate of total population growth from 1960 to 1965 indicating that

Goldberg Addresses 100 at Local College

More than 100 students and faculty members at Ulster County Community College recently heard a special lecture at the college by Assistant Attorney General Maurice Goldberg.

The program was sponsored by the College's Criminology class and arranged by Associate Professor Robert A. Kurland.

Goldberg told of the duties of the Attorney General's office and outlined the work of the office's Bureau of Consumer Frauds and Protection.

A film, Let the Buyer Beware, was shown. It depicted types of consumer fraud common in the state and showed ways the average citizen can protect himself from these practices.

In addition to the Criminology Class, evening students from the Psychology, Economics and Business classes participated in the program and took part in a question-and-answer period.

Hunting Mishap

While hunting with two dogs in a heavily wooded area near the Rainbow Country Club, Greenville, Greene County, Wednesday morning, Santo Chiaramonte, 70, of Linden, N. J., was accidentally shot by an unidentified hunter. State Police Sergeant Herbert Newton of the Leeds detail said Chiaramonte was treated at Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill, where pellets were removed from his face and lower left arm. Chiaramonte told BCI Investigator Patrick Romagnano he was hunting alone when he heard a

Announce Beauty Pageant Judges

The judges panel for this year's "Miss Saugerties-Ulster County" pageant this Saturday at Saugerties High School, to choose the county representative for the Miss New York State Pageant in Olean in July 1967, was announced today by Herbert G. Lachmann, chairman of the judges committee.

They include the following: Allan Gerry of Liberty, TV communications expert and official of Videcom, Inc.; Mark Klimczyk of Olean, executive vice-president of the Miss New York State Pageant; Donald MacIsaac of Kingston, information service manager at IBM Kingston; Edwin Bernstein of East Rockaway, L.I., an executive of WKNY; and Rosalund Lang of Selkirk, lecturer and author, affiliated with the New York Telephone Company.

The panel will select one of the 13 contestants in this year's pageant to receive the title of "Miss Saugerties-Ulster County." The theme of the presentation will be "Contrasts in Rhythm," featuring the music of George Gershwin.

Tickets for the pageant are still available and may be ordered from Mrs. Margaret L. Stegmayer, ticket chairman, 3 Garden Court, Saugerties.

National Guard Honors Officer On Retirement

POUGHKEEPSIE — Some 80 officers and non-commissioned officers of the 2nd Battalion (Honest John Rocket) 156th Artillery, New York Army National Guard, and their ladies this week paid high tribute to Lt. Col. James H. Ackerman Jr., 15 Kinderhook Drive, Poughkeepsie, for his nearly 27 years of military service.

Colonel Ackerman was presented with an Army National Guard gold ring with a red (Artillery) stone to signify his branch of service. The presentation was made by Captain Dennis H. Kekas, communications officer.

Given Bouquet

Mrs. Ackerman was presented with a beautiful bouquet of "Artillery" Red roses by Sergeant Major Charles A. Dykes, on behalf of the non-commissioned officers of the battalion, in recognition of her faithful support of Colonel Ackerman during his many years of military service as a Guardsman and while serving in World War II.

Colonel Ackerman's retirement comes not by choice, but under the provisions of the Reserve Officers Personnel Act of 1954 which requires officers who reach the maximum age in grade to retire when a vacancy for a higher grade is not available to them.

Ackerman enlisted in old Battery B, 156th Field Artillery in December 1939. He graduated from OCS at Ft. Sill, Okla., in September 1942, having entered on active duty with the local Guard when it was called to service during World War II. He served with the 10th Armor Division under General George S. Patton and was awarded the Bronze Star, Distinguished Unit Badge, Belgian and French Fourrageres, four campaign stars for service in the Rhineland, Argonne, Central Europe and Northern France. He rejoined the National Guard after a short assignment with the Reserves in December 1947 continuing to serve until his present retirement. He has held a variety of staff and command assignments with the 156th Artillery. In April, 1963 he took command of the newly formed 2nd Battalion, 156th Artillery, Poughkeepsie.

At the dinner held in the Cottonwood Inn, Washington Hollow, Major John E. Martell, Poughkeepsie, who succeeds Ackerman as commander of the battalion, welcomed the guests and stated that his "nearly 30 years of association and friendship with Colonel Ackerman were among his 'most valued possessions.'" He presented the Ackermans with the book "Treasury of the Gun" by Harold L. Peterson, a panorama of firearms. Major Otto Schmedlich, S3, was toastmaster for the event. Guest speakers included Colonel Ambrose R. Leach, 27th Division Artillery commander, who reviewed the years of Ackerman's service.

Marx Speaks

Former battalion commander of the 1st battalion, Lieut. Colonel Arthur H. Marx (retired) complimented the officers and men of the battalion and their wives. Colonel Ackerman appeared in top form as he gave a sparkling review of his experiences on the more humorous side and at times had his listeners rocking with laughter. Ackerman is employed as a staff assistant with IBM, South Road, and is married to the former Miss Dorothy Reidinger of Poughkeepsie. They have two daughters, Bonnie Lee, who resides with them and Mrs. Anthony DePaola, city, both of whom were in attendance at the testimonial dinner.

CW4 Thomas W. Miller, Kingston, assistant adjutant, gave the invocation. Members of the committee on arrangements were: Captain George E. Holbrook, 1st Lt. Robert W. Benjamin Jr., Captain David E. Tanis, Captain Dennis H. Kekas and Sergeant Major Charles A. Dykes.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Today is Thursday, Oct. 20, the 293rd day of 1966. There are 72 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1918, Germany sent a third peace note to the United States, agreeing to terms specified by President Woodrow Wilson. At the same time, the Germans recalled all their submarines to their bases.

On this date in 1910, Woodrow Wilson resigned the presidency of Princeton University.

In 1943, British Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten conferred with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek in China.

In 1945, the War Department announced that almost half the soldiers from the Atlantic and Pacific were home.

Ten years ago . . . The Chicago Tribune Co. announced the purchase of Chicago's two Hearst newspapers — the American and the Sunday American. The transaction left Chicago without a Hearst newspaper for the first time since William Randolph Hearst Sr. founded the American in 1900.

Five years ago . . . West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer agreed to resign his post in the summer of 1963. This was the price he had to pay in order to form a coalition government of his Christian Democratic Union and the small Free Democratic Party.

Florida Suspends Use of Radar, Air Traffic Devices

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The Florida Highway Patrol suspended the use of all radar devices and air-to-ground surveillance Wednesday after Atty. Gen. Earl Faircloth said that traffic arrests with such "spy-in-the sky" devices are probably illegal.

Faircloth, however, wants the law changed. He said in an opinion Tuesday that no reasonable men can deny that use of airplanes, radar and electronic timers should be made legal.

He urged modifications of state law by the 1967 legislature "to moderate with police power the folly of those who use our highways without regard for their own safety or that of others."

Reid Clifton, deputy director of the Public Safety Department, curtailed the use of radar and electronic timers as well as airplanes after Faircloth's opinion.

The opinion held that information relayed to an arresting officer on the ground from a plane is "hearsay evidence" and doesn't measure up to Florida law, Faircloth said. He suggested the legislature make information obtained with such equipment prima facie evidence.

Says ERA Fails To Complete Job On Several Pacts

Robert E. Metseher, business manager of Local 645, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, in a statement today, claims that the ERA Electrical Construction Corp., of Kingston, involved in a dispute over its eligibility to fulfill a contract with the Kingston Housing Authority, has failed to complete several contracts.

ERA had bid low at $159,054 to do the electrical work on the 135-unit Rondout Gardens urban renewal housing project, but no award has been made because of a dispute mainly involving the KHA and Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick.

Metseher in his statement released for publication today said: "At a press conference on Friday, Oct. 14, which I attended by invitation from John Logan, assistant to Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick, the congressman stated he would call upon Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan, and the Kingston City Council to launch an immediate investigation into this terrible situation. The following should be of assistance to these gentlemen:

"In addition to the correspondence mentioned in the minutes of the Sept. 30 meeting as furnished by Congressman Resnick there is information concerning the performance ability of ERA, which is further grounds for disqualification.

Notes Six Contracts

"This firm has failed for one reason or another to complete its contracts on the following public projects: Woodstock, Phoenicia, West Hurley, Saugerties and Blue Mountain schools, and the county building at John and Crown streets.

"In an extraordinary statement Congressman Resnick made at the press conference on Oct. 14 in defense of ERA and impugning the motives of the KHA, he said, 'Further, the rates paid by the ERA to its employees on federal and state jobs are set by law, and are identical with rates paid employees of other electrical contracting firms and member of other unions such as Local 645 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.'

"I now ask Mr. Goldstein to state publicly whether his firm has repeatedly been found in violation of failure to pay the proper amount of wages required by the U. S. Fair Labor Standards Act and New York State laws governing wages and hours on public works projects.

Hints Misinformation

"I now ask Congressman Resnick why, when he was informed of ERA's failure to pay proper wages, he did not inquire of Mr. Jerome Lefkowitz, counsel for the New York State Department of Labor for an evaluation of violations, if any have occurred.

"I subscribe completely to the ideals expressed by Congressman Resnick at his press conference. This is a nation of laws, not men. I can only surmise, however, from Congressman Resnick's actions in this matter, that he has not done his homework and is being misinformed, or that the 'rule by law' which he advocates, allows him to condemn responsible public officials and expects them to award a contract to a firm which has violated the laws."

There are no natural lakes in South Carolina, but power dams have formed artificial lakes on several of its rivers.

Will Start Leaves Collection Monday

Kingston's annual collection of autumn leaves is due to start Monday at 7 a. m. in the Second Ward, Charles J. Cole, public works superintendent, announced today.

Residents are asked not to deposit leaves in gutters before collection time. Notice will be given in advance of collections elsewhere in time to permit the placing of leaves at curbside for collection.

Cooperation, said Cole, "will reduce the fire hazard of accumulated piles and facilitate street drainage during heavy rains. Dry leaves placed for collection should be wet frequently, not only to reduce the fire hazard, but to minimize scattering by passing traffic."

Casals Wins JFK Prize

House Facing Heavy Workload

WASHINGTON (AP) — House leaders faced the threat of dwindling attendance today as a stack of important legislation stood in the way of adjournment.

While the Senate pushed through several major measures Wednesday, the House ticked at length over lesser items and left itself a heavy workload if Congress is to adjourn by Saturday.

The House was expected to act Wednesday on a $6.1 billion school aid bill, a $1.75 billion antipoverty measure, a bill that would launch President Johnson's demonstration cities urban renewal program and an anti-inflation measure that includes a rider clearing the way for merger of the National and American Football Leagues.

It didn't get to a single one. All have been rescheduled for action today.

State Health Department RN's Vote for NYSNA

Registered professional nurses employed by the New York State Department of Health have voted to have their statewide professional association represent them in negotiations with the State government on salaries and conditions of employment.

Involved are some 60 registered nurses employed by the office of Nursing of the State Health Department. They have named the New York State Nurses Association as their exclusive bargaining representative, the Association reported Wednesday.

Most of the nurses are serving full-time as consultants, supervisors and regional public health nurses. They are concerned with maternal and child health, geriatrics, and chronic disease programs, among others.

"For too long these nurses in key State positions have failed to receive the salary recognition they deserve at a time when their professional services are being extended and made more complex," stated Miss Veronica

M. Driscoll, R.N. Miss Driscoll, who is associate executive director of the 14,000-member NYSNA, noted that many of the State-employed nurses are functioning in activities related to Medicare and Medicaid, including approvals of hospital and nursing home services.

Authors Will Share Literature Award

STOCKHOLM, Sweden. (AP) — Two Jewish authors were jointly awarded the 1966 Nobel Prize for literature today. They are Samuel Joseph Agnon of Israel and Nelly Sachs, a German who lives in Stockholm.

The Swedish Academy of Letters said it made the award to Agnon "for his profoundly characteristic narrative art with motifs of the Jewish people" and Miss Sachs for "her outstanding lyrical and dramatic writing, which interprets Israel's destiny with touching strength."

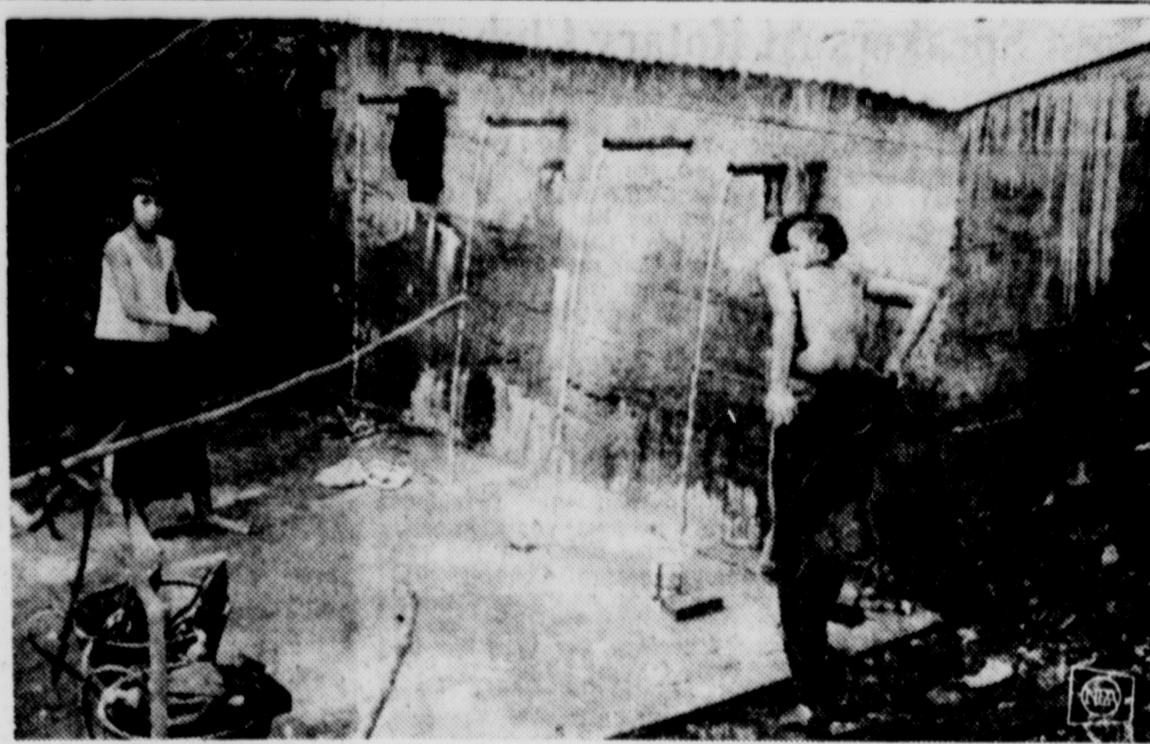

As an early step in representing the group, the New York State Nurses Association will meet with State officials to discuss the situation, Miss Driscoll said.

Titles covered now by the NYSNA representation include Regional Public Health Nurses in all parts of the State, District Supervising Public Health Nurses, Nursing Services Consultants and Senior Nursing Service Consultants, and others.

Head Back to Work

UTICA, N. Y. (AP) — Two striking machinists unions "reluctantly headed back to work today, under a new contract with the General Electric Corp. here, as strikes against the company continued elsewhere in New York State.

About 2,800 members of Lodges 784 and 1669, International Association of Machinists, approved a contract offer Wednesday to end a three-day strike against the Utica facilities.

Murray St. House Damaged by Fire, Owned by UR

A two-story, vacant frame house at 27 Murray Street owned by the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency was damaged by fire Wednesday night. Firemen said it was heavily involved in flame when they arrived. Damage was extensive inside and on the exterior of the structure.

A telephone call at 11:09 p.m. was followed by an alarm from Box 2123, Chambers and East Pierpont Streets. Units from Central and Wiltwyck stations, the Wicks, Rapid and Cordis companies responded with Chief James M. Brett and Capt. Edwin P. Murphy in charge. Other volunteer companies were on stand-by and cover call. Origin of the blaze was reported undetermined.

Fish and Logan Guest Speakers At Rotary Club

State and national economy, inflation, foreign aid and income taxes were matters aired by Hamilton Fish Jr., Republican candidate for Congress in the 28th District of New York, and John Logan, district representative of Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick at Wednesday's meeting of Kingston Rotary Club.

Other Clubs Guests

Members of the P'wanis and Lions Clubs of Kingston were guests at the luncheon-meeting, which opened with a prayer in observance of National Day of Prayer proclaimed by President Johnson.

After luncheon Fish and Logan, who attended the session in the absence of Congressman Resnick, who reportedly was unable to land in his plane at Kingston Airport due to weather conditions, answered questions put to them about state, national and international issues.

Fish contended that inflation could have been controlled and said that while the Johnson administration characterizes the condition of the country as prosperity, the Republican candidate said he calls it inflation.

Blames Lack of Leadership

Fish charged that the lack of leadership on the part of the administration in December, 1965, when the danger signal was applied has brought about the present inflation. High rate of government spending and the price rise in 1966 is a hardship to all, Fish noted.

Commenting on the high rate of government spending, Fish called upon Congress to cut spending. On the proposed increase in income taxes, Fish said that in his opinion higher income from taxes would lead to greater spending and greater inflation. He said that he doesn't believe income tax increases are essential, but recommended that the answer is a reduction in government spending.

If elected to Congress Fish contends he will fight against proposed Democratic income tax increases, and for rigid governmental economy, and exercise restraint in federal spending and oppose wasteful give-away programs.

Speaking for Resnick, Logan noted that the volume of business in America, the state and Ulster County has never been so great. He contended there are 10 million more people now employed than several years ago, with the total employment at 77 million people.

Notes Money, Profits

Logan said that disposable income has never been at such a high level and more money is now available to buy products. Business profits have shown large gains and in the last 65 months family income has increased and gross national production is greater in the United States than in any nation.

Resnick's representative told of training programs that are underway to retain welfare recipients in jobs. He said farmers now are getting fair prices for their produce for the first time in years. Logan insisted that federal spending has been cut and he contended that it is his feeling that Congressman Resnick will continue to support programs that brought about "this prosperity."

In reply to questions, Logan said that the 10 per cent increase in social security proposed by President Johnson was opposed by the Republicans, who wanted eight per cent.

Fish charged that President Johnson's proposal for the social security raise came on the eve of adjournment of Congress and referred to it as "a gimmick." He noted that the increase is needed because Congress has let the cost of living go up.

Fish contended there were many opportunities in the last Congress to cut spending but this was not done. Logan pointed out that is fine to say cut the budget and government spending, and he noted that several times Resnick had asked Fish where he would cut spending, but received no definite answer.

The matter of public referendum on the limit of public debt was discussed by both candidates. Foreign aid to western European countries was briefly discussed by both speakers.

Seek $10 Million Fund To Stress Smoking Ills

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—Sen. Edward J. Speno says the State Inter-agency Committee on Hazards of Smoking will ask the federal government for $10 million to inform the public of what the committee considers the dangers of smoking, narcotics and drugs.

Speno, a Mineola Republican and chairman of the committee, told a conference here Wednesday on smoking and health that the funds would be used to establish a three-year "public health education campaign in the schools and throughout the adult community."

In addition, he said, the committee will seek a preliminary $300,000 in federal money for a one-year pilot project limited to its concern about cigarette smoking.

Birth Announced

A daughter, Lareen Janet was born to Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Beaver, of Davenport, Iowa, Oct. 18. Mr. Beaver, a former Kingston resident, is a graduate of Kingston High School and of Cornell University.

The buckskin-clad beauty is Pan American's entry for the title Miss Wings of the Universe. Stewardesses from all over the country are flying down to Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, for the event.

Did Not Graduate KHS

Army Staff Sergeant Bruce Leonard, son of George Leonard of 115 Main Street, who is currently stationed in Viet Nam, is not a graduate of Kingston High School. A news release by the Army Hometown News Service in Kansas was in error in stating that Leonard was a 1959 graduate of the local high school. He earned his high school diploma in 1959 through the Army.

Middletown Has New Director at State Hospital

Dr. Amore DelGiudice is the new director of Middletown State Hospital. He succeeds Dr. Hyman M. Pleasure who is now deputy commissioner for local services for the Department of Mental Hygiene.

Since 1961, Dr. DelGiudice has been assistant director (clinical) at St. Lawrence State Hospital. He first entered state service in

Judges Answer Questionnaire On Free Press, Fair Trials

By BARRY SCHWEID
WASHINGTON (AP) — Approximately 200 trial judges in 20 cities were questioned by the Reardon committee in the

Wilson Believes Fish Will Win District, County

Ulster County Republican Chairman, Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, stated today that all indications in the county, as well as throughout the 28th District, point to the fact that the tide of voter sentiment has definitely turned in favor of the Republican candidate for Congress, Hamilton Fish Jr., and Wilson predicted that Ham Fish would defeat his Democrat opponent by several thousand votes this November.

The Republican leader said that one of the main reasons for the swing to Ham Fish is that the voters have been able to see through the barrage of press releases which have become the hallmark of the Democrat incumbent, and are accepting the fact that for the past two years the residents of the district have not had an actual representative in Washington, but rather have had to put up with an agent of the Johnson Administration.

Chairman Wilson said that reports from all over Ulster County show that the voters are getting solidly in back of the Republican candidate, and that they will assist in putting the Congressional District back in the GOP column this year.

Apparently, Wilson went on to say, these reports have found their way down to Washington since both the Democratic and Republican National Committees have rated the local Congressional race as a most doubtful one for Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick, and there is now every indication that the Congressman's own party has just about written off his chances of being reelected this November.

According to the Republican County chairman, evidence of this fear by the Johnson Administration has been clearly demonstrated by the fact that the Democrats have spared no expense in parading before the voters a host of leading Democrats, including President Johnson himself. Assemblyman Wilson also pointed out that all of the high-powered campaigning on the part of the Johnson Administration has been done at the expense of the American taxpayer. The Ulster County GOP leader further noted that a recent Associated Press survey of the political campaign in the state rated the race in the 28th Congressional District as a "toss-up," and indicated that the freshman Congressman would have a great deal of difficulty in retaining his seat in Congress against Ham Fish.

$18 Million Project

STOWE, Vt. (AP) — Ski resort areas in New England plan to invest about $18 million for construction and improvement, says the New England Council.

course of its study of free press and fair trial. The views expressed offer some interesting insights into current courtroom practices.

Have Elbow Room

And, taken together, they appear to support the idea that the of elbow room to shield trials from prejudicial publicity. Virtually all the judges polled by the American Bar Association panel, headed by Justice Paul O. Reardon of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts, preside over trials involving serious crimes. Sixty-eight responded.

More than half — 39 — said they never reprimanded the news media or requested they withhold their reports before or during trial. Two said they occasionally reprimanded the media and 27 said they occasionally requested that the reporting be withheld.

Newsmen Comply

What was the response when the news media were asked "not to report certain information"? Twenty-two said they generally or always received compliance, three said they sometimes received compliance and one said the requests were refused. One judge did not reply.

Among the procedures open to defense attorneys to guard against a prejudiced jury are to ask that the case be put off for a while or that it be heard somewhere else.

Thirty-four judges said they had never been asked to delay a case on grounds of prejudicial news coverage and 41 said they had never been asked for a change of locale on those grounds.

And yet 32 judges said there are occasions when a continuance is an effective remedy and 40 said the same thing about a change of venue.

The judges also were asked how often the defense sought a mistrial or new trial on grounds of prejudicial news coverage. Thirty-seven said never, 18 said seldom, eight said occasionally, one said often and three did not answer.

Most Significant

Perhaps most significant were the replies to the question: "What benefits do you believe are derived from news reporting of criminal matters?"

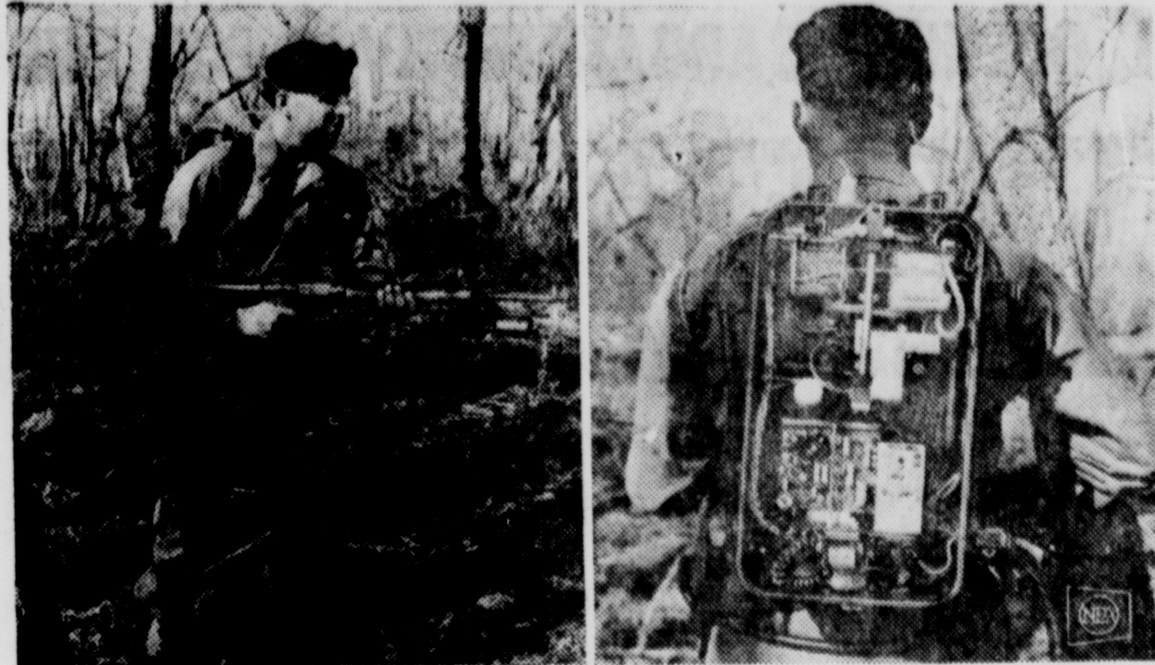

Thirty-six said it increases public awareness, 18 said scrutiny of public officials, nine said deterrence of crime and two said it aids administration of justice. Fourteen said there were no benefits.

Nine judges did not answer. Of those that responded some listed more than one benefit.

Could the same benefits be obtained if attorneys and law enforcement officers were prohibited from making certain "extrajudicial public statements?" — a major recommendation of the committee.

Seven judges said benefits would be impaired, 40 said they would still be obtained, 14 said there would be no benefits and seven did not answer.

Take Roosevelt Bid Seriously On Poll Results

By CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Veteran politicians in both major parties no longer burst out laughing when asked whether Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. could achieve the "impossible" — win the four-way race for governor.

They still answer the question with an emphatic "no," and they trot out the statistics to back up their viewpoint. But the fact that they now treat the question with thoughtful respect marks one of the more interesting developments in this year's puzzling contest for governor.

To Draw Votes

When the son of the late President decided in September to run as the Liberal party nominee, it was assumed generally that he would draw a substantial number of votes from the Democratic column.

Roosevelt's detractors scoffed at this prospect, saying he would poll no more than the customary Liberal vote — 250,000 or so.

Other political observers guessed that the nostalgia of his famous name might produce another 250,000 — for a total of half a million.

Old Democratic pro James A. Farley, who helped Roosevelt's father win the presidency, speculated that today's Franklin might attract as many as a million votes. The modern political powers chuckled, saying Farley was living in the past.

But "Big Jim" may have the last laugh — if you believe the voter-opinion polls, results of which have been "leaked" to segments of the press.

Surveys Note Leaning

According to surveys taken on behalf of Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Democratic nominee Frank D. O'Connor, between 15 and 17 per cent of the electorate is leaning toward Roosevelt.

With a total vote of about 6 million expected, this translates to between 900,000 and 1,2 million votes — much better than most politicians expected.

If it is still far short, however, of what Roosevelt would need to pull off an upset victory, even in a four-way race. The mathematics are stacked against him. Assuming Paul L. Adams, the Conservative nominee, draws between 100,000 and 200,000 votes, this would leave at least 4.6 million votes to be divided between Rockefeller and O'Connor.

The polls purportedly show Rockefeller and O'Connor running neck and neck. A close split thus would give each about 2.3 million.

Obviously then, Roosevelt would have to improve considerably on a potential net of 1.2 million in order to finish higher than third.

That's why the GOP and Democratic strategists say it can't be done. They say he doesn't figure to gain that much additional strength in the closing weeks of the campaign. But they're not laughing any more.

Ideas for Yule Giving to Boys In Battle Zones

By PEGGY SIMPSON

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Ketchup, a money clip, bubble gum, James Bond, peanut brittle — and a poem.

To a GI fighting in Viet Nam who finds them in a Christmas package, each is an appreciated rarity.

Goodies for Viet

A Dallas organization, Support, formed last March as a home-front cheering squad for the boys at war, is recruiting donors for overseas Christmas goodies bundles.

"We're working with anybody whose integrity we feel we can respect," said Mrs. Paul Burns Jr., unofficial spearheader of Support. "We just want to be sure they're reliable. There have been instances of the boys getting dog food and Communist literature in the mail."

Support promises to match up a company of about 200 soldiers in Viet Nam with any interested group, such as a sorority, Parent-Teacher Association, or civil club. Each group agrees to air-mail goodies in five-pound packages by Dec. 1.

To help the club members decide what to choose, Support talked to a former supply sergeant returned from Viet Nam and compiled a list of what every soldier wants for Christmas.

These include:

Money Clip Need

A money clip—Vietnamese paper money comes in bundles. Packaged sauces such as ketchup or tabasco to spice up the C-rations.

A ball point pen with a battery-operated light in the tip, so the GI can write home at night. Writing paper and self-seal envelopes — regular envelopes shut out from the humidity.

Nuts, canned shoestring potatoes, flavored candy drops, fruit cake or peanut brittle; all must be in vacuum cans to keep out the ants.

Paperback books — even fighting men crave adventure stories.

Presweetened powdered drinks; a comb; good pair of sunglasses; magnetic chess or checkers sets or Chinese puzzles for compact entertainment; bubble gum for the GIs to give Vietnamese children.

And a poem or prayer to convey the sender's special thoughts about Christmas.

UC Farm Bureau Elects, Discusses Grain Shipping

Reductions of freight rates on grain coming into New York State and revisions in the school principal salary law, were among many matters of interest discussed at the recent annual dinner meeting of the Ulster County Farm Bureau.

Jack A. Gill, of Hurley, retiring president of the group, presided at the session held at SRS home in Cottekill, and attended by 150 members and guests.

No action was taken on the lottery amendment, which is No. 7 on the ballots to be voted on at the Nov. 8 election.

The Ulster Farm Bureau took no action on a recent stand taken by the Dutchess County Farm Bureau in opposition to Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick's reelection. The Dutchess group voted at a recent annual dinner meeting to take "an open stand" in opposition to Resnick contending that the 28th District Democrat "has repeatedly voted in direct opposition to the Farm Bureau policy."

A resolution in Dutchess County by the Farm Bureau emphasized the Bureau's not favoring any of the three candidates for Congress next month.

Prior to the main meeting of the Ulster bureau, groups of farmers attended "kitchen conferences" to discuss policies of the farm bureau.

John Gaffney Jr., of Highland, was elected president to succeed Gill. Other directors elected were James Clark, Milton: Myron Boice, High Falls; John L. Schoonmaker, Accord; John Minard, New Paltz and Harold Sashin, Ellenville.

Robert Gregg, of Red Hook, vice-president of the New York State Farm Bureau, was guest speaker and touched on various policies of importance to members of the bureau in the county and state.

Social Security More Liberal on Seniors Working

George J. Habernig, social security district manager in Kingston, noted today that recent amendments to the social security law liberalize the conditions under which benefits are paid to people who continue working after age 65.

"Here are the new rules for taxable years after 1965," Habernig said: If you earn $1,500 or less in a year, you get all the benefits. If you earn more than $1,500 in a year while you are under 72, the general rule is that $1 in benefits to you (and your family) will be withheld for each $2 you earn from $1,500 to $2,700. In addition, $1 in benefits will be withheld for each $1 of earnings over $2,700.

"There is an exception," he explained. "Regardless of total earnings in a year, benefits are payable for any month in which you neither earn wages of more than $125 nor perform substantial services in self-employment. Benefits are also payable for all months in which you are 72 or older, regardless of the amount of your earnings in months after you reach 72."

According to Habernig, the decision as to whether you are performing substantial services depends on the time you devote to your business, the kind of services you perform, how services compare with those you performed in past years, and other circumstances of your particular case.

Habernig added that earnings from work of any kind, whether or not covered by social security must be counted (except tips of less than $20 a month with any one employer). This means total wages (not just take-home pay) and all net earnings from self-employment must be added together in figuring your earnings for the year. Income from savings, investments, pensions, insurance and certain royalties after age 65 are not counted. Habernig stated that for more information about how working after applying for benefits affects your retirement or survivor's insurance payments, you should ask your local social security office for Booklet No. 23. The social security office at 57 Albany Avenue will be glad to send you one of these booklets free.

State Medicaid Safe From U. S. Limits for Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York State's Medicaid program appeared safe from congressionally imposed financial limits today, at least for another year.

House leaders were understood Wednesday to have decided not to bring to a vote this session a measure that would specify limits on federal aid to state programs for persons deemed to need help to pay medical bills.

Although the measure was reported ready for House action, congressional spokesmen said they saw no prospect of its being considered in the Senate before adjournment, expected this weekend.

The proposed bill would have limited financial aid given to adults whose economic situation was above the welfare level and who were younger than 65. The measure was aimed chiefly at New York's program, sources said, and was designed to prevent unlimited expenditure of federal funds.

It was understood that one consideration behind the decision not to press for action this year was the probability that Congress would expand Social Security benefits next year.

Proponents of curbs on Medicaid were said to feel that their legislation would stand a better chance of passage when incorporated in another bill.

The New York Medicaid law, which took effect last Spring, specifies, for example, that a family of four with $6,000 annual income is eligible for state aid to pay medical bills.

former board member; Dan Slobodian and Hamilton Sherman. Seated (l-r) are David Karp, former Lions president who was instrumental with Chipp in starting Hospital Fund Program; Sidney Chernick and Philip M. Rock. Also featured at the recent meeting were slides depicting both the new and old hospital prepared by the Women's Auxiliary of the hospital. (Saul photo.)

Buys Gas Station

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—The city's board of education has bought a service station in the hopes that it will turn out a new generation of topflight automobile mechanics.

School officials said they do not expect to make a bundle of money at the downtown station. They simply hope 109 high-school pupils will learn everything connected with the operation of a station, such as hammering out crushed automobile fenders, repairing carburetors and keeping finances in order. The pupils will not be permitted to perform mechanical or collision work for the general public, but will work only on their own autos or vehicles donated to the school.

The aspiring mechanics will be paid for the work they do after school hours. Any additional money will be used to finance the operation, officials said.

Attends Mental Health Session

Mrs. Gladys Millonig, of Kingston, will be the official delegate of the Ulster County Association for Mental Health, at the annual meeting of the New York State Association for Mental Health, to be held in Buffalo, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

The meeting will start Thursday evening with a business session of the board of directors of the New York State Association for Mental Health, to which all the official delegates of the county Association for Mental Health have been specially invited.

The theme of Friday morning's program will be Children and Their Mental Health. The primary presentation will be given by Dr. Donald B. Dean, child psychiatrist, of the Psychiatric Clinic of Buffalo, formerly fellow in Child Psychiatry at the Langley Porter Neuropsychiatric Institute of San Francisco. Following this will be sessions on The Mentally Ill Child, The Mentally Handicapped Child and The Emotionally Disturbed Child.

In the afternoon, Dr. Alex Braimen, Associate professor of psychiatry of the University of Rochester Medical School, will address the delegates on the subject of The Troubled Adolescent in Turmoil.

Following this session, there will be the annual membership business meeting and banquet. Guest speaker will be Hugh Downs, of the National Broadcasting Corporation. His topic will be The Role of the Citizen and the Community in Mental Health.

All session will be held in the Hotel Statler Hilton, Buffalo. Further information may be obtained from the Ulster County Association for Mental Health, at 27 East O'Reilly Street, Kingston, which is one of the 13 agencies in Ulster County which receive support from the Community Chest.

Police Chief Retiring

IRONDEQUOIT, N.Y. (AP)—Harold McFarlin, 65, police chief in this Rochester suburb for the last 46 years, says he will retire at the end of this year.

McFarlin, who has served as chief since organizing the police force in 1920, said Wednesday the department has grown from a complement of eight men to 40 men in that time.

State Approves Preliminary Plans for 2 School Additions

Preliminary plans for construction of additions to Glasco and Mt. Marion elementary schools have been approved by the state. Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, superintendent of Saugerties Central Schools told the Board of Education this week as he presented a calendar and check list for the project.

The superintendent received word from Albany this week that the preliminary plans for these projects have been approved by the State Education Department. He reported that as of September 30, a total of 3757 pupils were enrolled in the schools, with attendance of the various schools as follows:

Senior High School 834; Glasco School 306; Junior High School 783; Mt. Marion 468; G. D. Morse School 732; Main Street 786, and Malden School 48.

Discussions are under way with the Mid-Hudson Catskill Museum program director regarding the possibility of developing one or more outdoor laboratories on elementary school sites. The project, which will be included in the site work portion of the building program, may be supplemented by in-service training of teachers and use of outdoor area science instruction.

The superintendent stated that a study had been made of materials which teachers have requested students to purchase to supplement the books and materials provided by the schools. Although some requests have been made, this practice will be discontinued. Principals and teachers have been instructed that all materials and books considered essential to instruction should be included in requisitions made through proper channels.

Library service to the elementary schools has been considerably expanded as of the beginning of the school year. Dr. Arnold explained that librarians are now assigned one day per week at each elementary school and that it is anticipated more time will be available as the year progresses. New procedures have increased the supply of books stored in each school building and additional books are rotated through the classes on a much more rapid schedule than in the past. Under Title II of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, the number of books available has increased and through the Village library a number of books have been placed on loan to pupils from private schools.

The audit of the 1965-66 fiscal affairs of the district has been completed and the report of the auditors of Alfred D. Ronder & Company was made available to board members.

In anticipation of the New York State School Boards Association's annual conference at Syracuse, which will be held on Oct. 23, 24, and 25, Board President Jack O. Pakanen was appointed voting delegate and resolutions to be presented at the conference were discussed. Treasurer Gerald Snyder reported that a total of $978,864.16, representing 89 per cent of the collectable taxes in the school district, had been collected before the penalty period beginning Oct. 5.

Upon recommendation of the Dexter O. Arnold, the Board of Education accepted the resignation of Mrs. Glenda Hess, junior high school science teacher. Elected to replace Mrs. Hess and Miss Carol Schmidt, whose resignation was previously accepted, are Mrs. Judith Honeywood and Mrs. Sharon Randall. Mrs. Honeywood, who will teach art in Mt. Marion and Glasco Schools, holds a Bachelor of fine arts degree and a bachelor of science degree from Rhode Island School of Design. Mrs. Honeywood has taught previously in the schools of Easton, Mass., and Pelham. Mrs. Randall who holds a bachelor of science degree from Jackson College, Tufts University, will teach junior high school science.

Other appointments approved by the Board include Richard Voerg, food service helper, and Henry Vickie and Ronald Missetich, part-time bus drivers.

The low bid of $6,633 for liability insurance by the Glens Falls Insurance Company, Sauer-Teetzel Agency, was accepted.

The low bid of Mrs. Lawrence Ranford of West Camp for transportation on Feeder Route No. 18 at $800 was accepted.

Parish Honors Monsignor With Special Event

St. Joseph's Church, of Glasco, plans a festive social event Sunday to honor the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Archibald Damm on the occasion of his recent elevation to that post. Members of a special committee, headed by Joseph J. Greco, and members of the parish will present the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Damm with a 1966 model automobile Sunday at 3 p. m. on the church grounds.

Refreshments will be served from 2 to 4 p. m. at the bazaar grounds, in the rear of the church, for members of the parish and their families and for the public interested in viewing the 3 p. m. car presentation ceremonies and other awards program planned.

In the event of inclement weather, the event will take place at the Glasco Fire Hall, next to the church.

Members of the committee in charge of the event are Joseph J. Greco Jr., general chairman; Vincent J. Ferraro, assistant chairman; Joseph A. Ferraro Jr., secretary-treasurer; Joseph J. Fabiano, publicity chairman; Arthur Ferraro, ticket chairman; Roland Mauro, Michael Ferraro, Michael Galletta and Father Thompson, assistant pastor of St. Joseph's Church, committee advisors.

Labels Delegate Most Important On Nov. 8 Ballot

H. Clark Bell, Republican-Conservative candidate for the Constitutional Convention, described the selection of Constitutional Delegates the most important vote on the Nov. 8 ballot.

In a speech to Saugerties housewives Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Nellie Evans of Highwoods, on the make-up, nature and issues of the coming Constitutional Convention, Bell said: The delegates to the convention will make decisions which will guide the development of this state for the next generation. It will be the responsibility of the delegates to draft a new Constitution, a new basic instrument of government. The present New York State Constitution has not undergone major redrafting since the 19th Century. In many respects it desperately needs updating and modernizing. The effects of the Nov. 8 vote on Constitutional Delegates will be felt in this state for perhaps the next 25 years. That is a long time and voters should think a long time about the qualifications of the candidates before making a selection. The responsibilities of a delegate will be tremendous, for in drafting a modern Constitution he will be taking part in shaping the future of this state.

Mrs. William J. Everts of High Woods, who assisted Mrs. Evans in bringing this informative program on the Constitutional Convention to Saugerties housewives, urges all voters to review the qualifications of all candidates and to be sure to vote for the candidate of their choice on Nov. 8.

Among the housewives attending the informative program on the Constitutional Convention were the Mmes. Richard Gustin, Joseph Rems, R. B. Wenger, Donald Guthrie, James Pratt, Raymond Vig, Jesse Grube, Edwin Olsen, Joseph Sullivan, Joseph Ellis, Ralph Hayes, Henry Breitenbach, H. Clark Bell, Lars Risdal, C. L. Bryden, James Devaney, Anna Breitenbach, Chester Glunt, Gerald Stiles, Frank Greco, Charles Bryson, Charles Johnson, George Rodriguez, and Marie Post.

Mrs. Irving Gardner was the tea-table hostess.

Hamilton Fish Plans Saugerties Visit on Friday

Louis P. Francello, chairman of the Town of Saugerties Republican Committee announced that Hamilton Fish Jr., Republican candidate for Congress, will be in Saugerties Friday.

Fish will visit various factories and shopping centers in Saugerties that afternoon. In addition he will also visit the homes of some of the residents of Saugerties. Francello announced that local residents will find Fish ringing their doorbells Friday afternoon to introduce himself and say hello.

Garden Club Elects

The Saugerties Society of Little Gardens, at its recent meeting, held an election of officers for the coming year of 1967. Mrs. William Waldele was re-elected president; Mrs. Frank Greco, vice president; Mrs. Richard Geuss, recording secretary; and Mrs. Morris Rosenbloom, treasurer. Annual reports were given and a business meeting held. The next meeting will be the annual luncheon Oct. 26 at Katsbaan Inn at 1 p. m. Reservations must be made with Mrs. Daniel Lamb by Saturday.

Social Scheduled

All plans are completed for the "Penny Social" announced by Mrs. John Fitzpatrick. The social will be held Friday, Oct. 21, from 7:30 p. m. in the church hall. The admission is free and open to the public. It is being sponsored by the Rosary Society of St. Mary's of the Snow. The committee has worked hard to make this a gala event for all who attend.

Spaghetti Dinner

Saugerties Methodist Youth Fellowship will hold a spaghetti dinner Oct. 29. Diners may come any time between 5:30 and 7 p. m. to the Methodist Church on Post Street and Washington Avenue. Tickets for adults and children may be purchased from any MYF member or at the door.

High Falls School Vote to Be Topic at Meeting

HIGH FALLS — On the subject of the forthcoming school bond issue for the purchase of a 35-acre elementary school site in the Town of Rosendale, the High Falls Fire Company will host an informational meeting for all interested residents and qualified voters of the Rondout Valley Central School District.

The speaker, Dr. Ted T. Grenda, superintendent of schools, will be speaking on the proposed land and the further development of the area site. The meeting will be held at the High Falls Firehouse on Tuesday, Oct. 27 at 8 p. m. Coffee and refreshments will be served.

There are about 18,000 op-tometrists in the United States, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

PREPARING FOR TROUBLE, workmen install riotproof steel shutters over windows of the American embassy in Moscow. The embassy says the shutters, being placed on the first four floors of the nine-story building, and steel doors for all outside entrances are precautions being taken to protect American lives and property "in view of past experience."

Two Hurt in Collision

Two persons, including a Saugerties man, were injured at 7:40 a. m. Wednesday when their cars collided on Route 9G, Town of Red Hook. Rhinebeck-Hyde Park state police reported John Rector, 18, of Tivoli, was driving south on the highway when his car skidded on a curve and was in collision with a north-bound vehicle operated by Carl Poleschner, 37, of Abbott Court, Saugerties. Both were taken to Northern Dutchess Hospital and treated for lacerations and abrasions. Trooper T. D. Clarke cited Rector for driving at a speed not reasonable and prudent. The summons is returnable at a later date before Justice of the Peace Frank Martin, Town of Red Hook.

May Ban Minisarong

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — The minisarong, devised by Malaysian beauty contest operators to get around a Moslem ban on bathing suits, is causing such a flap that the government may ban it. The sarong kebaya is the national female costume for Malay women. It does a lot for the female form from the waist up, but it also reaches to the ground. When the Miss Malaysia contest came up last Friday, the entrepreneurs hatched the minisarong, a garment that did as much for the bosom as the sarong kebaya does but also bared the legs. Malaysia being a Moslem nation officially, a great consternation resulted at the parade of flesh.

Draft Women, No

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Draft women in the United States? Never, says Maj. Gen. James F. Cantwell of Trenton, N.J.

Cantwell, president of the National Guard Association of the United States, said:

"I'm not opposed to women serving in the armed forces as they do, but I don't believe we should make Cuban guerrillas of them or mix women up in the same unit with men like the Russians."

LBj Visit Expected to Cause Rise of Philippines in Asia

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
MANILA (AP) — Since the end of World War II, Philippine leaders have been making eloquent speeches about the nation's bonds with Asia.

The newspapers would generally agree, the economists would agree, and some intellectuals, notably from the left, would applaud warmly. Then the nation would generally ignore the whole thing and go about its business.

Reject Leadership

The late Ramon Magsaysay, the most popular man ever elected president, led the nation into the Southeast Asia Treaty reluctance. Despite his wide appeal in the region, a respected historian notes, "He never seriously entertained the idea of Asian leadership."

After the SEATO treaty in 1954, the Philippines returned to a cautious and gingerly approach toward Asian neighbors. Twelve years later President Ferdinand E. Marcos aspired now to the role Magsaysay declined in Asian councils.

The seven-nation summit conference on Viet Nam which convenes Monday is the latest step for Marcos.

As host to the United States, Australia, New Zealand, South Viet Nam, South Korea and Thailand—all with troops in Viet Nam—Marcos will automatically be the focus.

Tilt Power Balance

If he succeeds, he will give his nation a stronger position in Asia than it has ever enjoyed. He could tilt the power balance a little more against the Red Chinese in Asia.

Approaching the conference, Marcos has insisted "it will reflect some concrete accomplishments."

The seven nations have drifted one by one into the war in Viet Nam without much consultation. In a desire to bolster the South Vietnamese against Communist aggression, they have tended to ignore some evident disagreements about how the war should be conducted.

With the United States building a 400,000-man military force in Viet Nam, President Johnson faces some divergent Asian views.

South Viet Nam's Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and South Korea's Chung Hee Park have little stomach for negotiations with the Communist. They are genuine hawks.

The Thais are contributing a minimal force in Viet Nam but are opening their territory to a U.S. buildup. They eye peace negotiations with suspicion.

Allied Strength

Optimists in Manila say these views can be molded into a position of allied strength to yield genuinely meaningful peace negotiations. Pessimists feel that the conference could divide along dangerous lines.

This leaves 49-year-old Marcos in the middle. As a World War II guerrilla hero, he might be expected to be a hawk. But before his election 10 months ago he opposed Philippine intervention in Viet Nam. By law, the 2,000-man force of engineers and security troops he sent to Viet Nam is restricted to civic action and self-defense.

Traditionally, the 30 million population in the lush Philippine Islands has regarded immediate neighbors as more or less troublesome cousins, with the Chinese the most dangerous of the lot.

There is no sign that Filipinos have changed their mind about the Chinese, particularly the Peking variety. It appears they will try more meaningful relations with the rest, even the Japanese whose economic strength sends shivers down the Philippine business spine.

Paradoxically, this could mean even stronger ties with the United States and the West. That is the role Marcos sees for his nation—a bridge for vast economic and cultural wealth. Hopefully a good bit will remain.

There is still a strong tendency in the Philippines to stay out of Asia's troubles while attempting to widen cultural and trade ties. Similar attitudes are reflected in Australia and New Zealand.

The seven nations will be seeking to reconcile these feelings as much as they will be seeking to find peace in Viet Nam. They face the possibility that "we must all hang together or most assuredly we shall all hang separately," as Benjamin Franklin described another situation.

The problem, as the United States sees it, is that few Asians have read much of Franklin.

Job at Napanoch Goes for $16,945; Plan Bridge Work

The State Department of Public Works in Albany today made public low bids totaling $1,064,322.80 accepted for repairs and construction work in the state.

The department also announced that bids will be opened Nov. 17 on some $26,000,000 in highway work throughout the state.

A low bid was accepted of $16,945 at Napanoch Institute for heating and electrical work and improvements to the ventilation system in Building 49. Trico Sheet Metal Company of New York City submitted the low bid.

The highway work in the local area consists mainly of cleaning and painting bridges. These include bridges in 9W and Routes 213 and 52.

Rainfall Builds Up Cooper's Winter Needs

Rainfall, to date, this fall has built up safe storage for the winter in Cooper Lake, the city's main reservoir, Edmund T. Cloonan, water department superintendent, reported today.

The recent storm poured 1.21 inches in the area to bring the October total, to date, to 2.81 inches after a substantial 7.21 inches in September.

It leaves reservoir storage at 5.4 feet below spillway level with the prospect of gaining more before cold weather.

Last year by Oct. 10 the reservoir was at capacity, but in 1964, as of Oct. 20, it was 14.5 down and headed for 18 feet plus before replenishing fall rains came.

This year it had reached 7.3 feet down by Sept. 21 after which the month's rains began adding intake.

Phoenicia Blood Bank Sets Drawing Oct. 25 At Allaben Site

PHOENICIA—Oct. 25, 1966 between the hours of 7 p. m. and 9 p. m. the Town of Shandaken Nursing Committee is sponsoring a Blood Bank drawing at the Town Hall, Allaben.

The Community Blood Bank is an essential medical facility today. The Blood Bank saves lives, time and money for those who are ill. The local Blood Bank makes it possible for residents of this township to donate or replace blood used by fellow townsmen or relatives, assuring that blood is always available when needed. Should such a need arise, call or write the Town of Shandaken Public Health Nursing Committee or any of its members and the blood will be available.

A donor must be in good health between the ages of 21 and 55, unmarried minors between the ages of 18-20 must have the written permission of their parents or guardian. Questions concerning previous illnesses will be checked, as will blood pressure, hemoglobin and temperature. There will be a doctor and a blood bank nurse in attendance.

Donors are advised to have sufficient rest on the day of the drawing. Three hours, before donation, light foods such as fruit juices, black coffee or clear tea may be consumed. They are advised to avoid fatty foods and alcoholic beverages. Normal diet of meat or fish, vegetables and plenty of water should be eaten immediately after donation. Donors should refrain from smoking until after a full meal. Over exertion and strenuous exercise should be avoided on day of donation.

Winter months have proven to be the most active for the blood bank so residents are requested by the nursing committee to support the drawing. Anyone unable to donate blood may give financial assistance.

O'Connor Lashes Gov., FDR Jr.

(The Associated Press)

Both Gov. Rockefeller and Liberal candidate Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. were the targets today of attacks by Democrat Frank D. O'Connor, who, meanwhile, has an invitation to testify before a grand jury burning in his pocket.

With both the Republican governor and O'Connor seeking Upstate votes today, the gubernatorial campaign flared up as: — O'Connor once again demanded that the governor reveal his campaign expenses as well as agree to meet the Democrat in a two-man debate.

Rockefeller described the goals of the Democratic nominee as "the narrow, sectional interests of the big-city clubhouses."

— Roosevelt, who some polls say may gain up to about a million votes, said O'Connor was "going down, I'm going up and Rockefeller is trying to hold his own."

At the same time, the Conservative party candidate, Paul L. Adams of Rochester, said his aims included repeal of the state's two per cent sales tax and a replacement for the present Medicaid law, which pays medical bills for those deemed needy.

On the labor front, Rockefeller claimed today he had endorsements from the leaders of 34 unions, representing more than a million of the state's organized workers.

Early Coin Minting

The Romans began coining in the 4th century B.C. and laid the foundations of modern minting. Coining also originated independently in China in the 7th century B.C. and spread to Japan and Korea.

Luck Is Factor in Duplicate

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The unlucky expert had caught us again. Hanging onto us so we couldn't get away, he recounted his latest tragedy. This time we have to sympathize with him. He was unlucky and there had been nothing he could do about it.

The game was duplicate and North and South worked their way to five spades against him. He made his normal opening of the heart queen. South won with dummy's ace, promptly led a club from dummy and stuck in his nine spot. Our unfortunate friend took his king and led a small trump. South won in his own hand and led a trump to dummy's jack. He looked a trifle disappointed when East showed out but proceeded to lead another club and to finesse his ten. Then he played a third round of trumps and continued with the ace of clubs.

When this play dropped East's queen South cashed the last club and played the ace and another diamond. West had held onto his king. It would have done him no good to unblock. Then West had to lead a heart. South ruffed in dummy, discarded his last diamond and claimed the balance.

What was so unlucky about the hand? South had played the hand very well. He had played to make five and succeeded but that wasn't why we sympathized with poor old West.

It seems that most other South players had only reached four spades. Playing at that contract they had simply drawn trumps and gone right after diamonds. That way they set up two diamonds in dummy and avoided all possible unpleasantness in the club suit by eventually discarding two of their clubs on the good diamonds to make exactly four odd.

State Hay Sufficient

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Agriculture Department reports that farmers in all sections of the state have sufficient hay for winter needs.

The agency estimated production Wednesday at 5.5 million tons for the year, about half a million tons more than last year.

The report also said surplus hay crops are reported in some central, north country and western counties.

Questions Often Asked About Chest Drives

Why am I asked to give at work and at home? This is certainly a good question in view of the present Community Chest campaign to raise $299,600, for the 13 agencies.

This shouldn't happen although it's possible with such a big geographic area and the 400 to 500 workers involved in the campaign. First of all, the basic approach in the campaign is to solicit each person at his place of work. This conserves manpower, permits payroll deduction and results in a more effective campaign. There is no general house-to-house solicitation. In some of the towns there is a limited house-to-house solicitation since there is no easy way of knowing who works where. Another thing which should prevent being asked to give a second time is a sticker which is distributed when a person donates. This sticker says "I gave the United Way" and is placed at the door of the home. This will stop a worker from asking someone to give. Large firms in the area who have United Charitable Contribution Drives have stickers of their own which say something very similar.

The Chest discontinued a "house-to-house solicitation" several years ago. It required a large number of campaign workers and frankly it would not produce the required funds. By contributing through payroll deduction, it is much more convenient for one to give as little as 25 cents a week or $1 a month, or to say it another way to give "painlessly."

Should someone be asked to give a second time we sincerely apologize. We must add, however, we would rather have this approach than to have someone missed. Each year there are far too many who are not asked for one reason or another. This is the reason why, at this time in the campaign, as it nears the end, to publicly ask each citizen to mail in a donation if they have not been asked. No money is required. A pledge of as little as $1 can be billed from the office.

If we are to reach our goal to provide the operating expenses required by the 13 agencies every citizen in the Chest area will have to give.

Renew Violence On West Coast

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Police maintained order in a predominantly Negro neighborhood today after rampaging youths injured five high school teachers, broke store windows and tossed fire bombs.

The sporadic violence started at noon Wednesday with a raid on Castlemont High School by some 250 truant students and nonstudents. Beside the five white teachers, the mob battered three white students.

Occasional outbreaks continued in the blocks between 80th and 89th Avenues and between East 14th Street and MacArthur Boulevard. At 10 p.m., reinforced police squads moved 40 abreast down 14th Street, enforcing a curfew for juveniles under 18.

"The police didn't want you on the streets at all," said Paul Robinson, 17, a Negro student at McClymonds High School. "They said move along and they weren't just talking."

Budapest crowds hail a truckload of freedom fighters, the people's "army" in the war against their own Communist dictatorship and the foreign oppressor, the Soviet Union.

Hungarian fury turned against everything Soviet. The head of Joseph Stalin, toppled from his monument, lies ignominiously in a Budapest street.

What began as a protest among writers against the excesses of a police state exploded on Oct. 23 into open rebellion—an uprising of the people against the so-called People's Democracy. For a few agonizing weeks in 1956 it held the attention of a world torn between desire to help a valiant people and fear that it might ignite a greater war. All too soon the brilliant flame of liberty was smothered by armed might, but the world will not soon forget the Hungarian Revolution.

Soviet tanks sealed the revolution's doom, moving on Budapest in force on Nov. 4. Heroic Hungarians battled Red armor with sticks, stones and bare fists in the blood bath that followed.

A girl proudly wears a national emblem at a street rally during the brief period it appeared the uprising might succeed.

The aftermath: For Hungary, rows of coffins. For the free world, questions. What should have been done? What could have been done?

Hostels Program Backed by Rocky; Aid to Retarded

Governor Rockefeller announced recently that he will recommend to the 1967 Legislature a new state program of hostels for the mentally retarded.

He described the program in a statement sent to the delegates of the New York State Association for Retarded Children meeting in Jamestown. The Governor was unable to attend the meeting, but he was represented by Dr. Alan D. Miller, commissioner of mental hygiene.

"If the mentally retarded have a stable home with their parents, they can manage quite well; but many do not have such homes. Or if they do, as they grow older, the problem becomes increasingly difficult. The most persistent fear that every parent of a retarded child harbors is the fate of their child after the death of both parents. All too often, an almost independent retarded individual must remain in, or finally be admitted to, a State School," the Governor said.

There are over a half a million persons in New York State who are in some degree mentally retarded. The majority of the retarded remain at home with their families or in the community. Many of them are ready and able to work at certain jobs and enjoy good health. However, they do require some degree of support and supervision.

The hostels would be community residences in which retarded individuals could live in studio apartments with housekeeping facilities. In addition, home-making services, and common dining and recreation areas will be provided.

Under the proposed program, the hostels could be built by the state or by local governments or community organizations with state assistance. Further, the state would finance up to 50 per cent of the total operating cost to assure financial stability for the hostels, and "thus make possible a life of dignity, happiness and self-respect for thousands of the mentally retarded who cannot now enjoy these," the Governor said.

Would Be Major Move
"A network of hostels will be a major new element in providing the broad range of services needed by the retarded, including expanded sheltered workshops, new community facilities, State School Colonies, and eight small State Schools located near the community," the Governor said.

In making the announcement, Governor Rockefeller said, "I have called on the State Association of Community Mental Health Boards to assume responsibility and interest in meeting the need for community services to the retarded on a scale comparable to their efforts in behalf of the mentally ill. The state has provided the tools."

Members of the Ulster County Mental Health Board are: C. Robert Cousins, Dr. Vernon Link, Joseph Fitzsimmons, Dr. Elbert MacFadden, Dr. Edward

Ellenville Dinner Planned To Honor Masonic Lodge Official

ELLENVILLE—Earl Eck of 20 Elm Street, Ellenville, who is an officer of the Wawarsing Lodge 582, Free and Accepted Masons, a past patron of the Wawarsing Chapter 253, Order of the Eastern Star and presently its associate patron, was appointed this week to the office of District Grand Lecturer of the Greene-Ulster District at the 97th Convention of the Grand Lodge of Eastern Star held at the Commodore Hotel in New York City.

A dinner in his honor will be held at Weng's, Napanoch, Saturday, Nov. 5 at 6:30 p.m. Anyone wishing to join in honoring Right Worthy Earl Eck may make reservations with the Worthy Matron Gertrude Phillips or the secretary of the Wawarsing Chapter of the Eastern Star on or before Oct. 29. All Master Masons in the Greene-Ulster District may make reservations.

Mrs. Marie Van Aken returned to her home at Atlantic City Highlands Sunday after spending some time with Mrs. Uriah Conner.

Choir rehearsal is held every Thursday evening at the Kripplebush church.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Van Aken visited Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Van Aken at Palisades this past weekend.

None Hurt in Mishap
Operators of two trucks escaped injury Wednesday when the vehicles collided on Route 213 near Rosendale. Trooper David Wachtel said Michael Yonta, 35, of 98 South Manor Avenue, was driving a dump truck west and James Clearwater, 41, of Port Ewen was operating a welding truck east when the latter vehicle skidded on wet pavement and the trucks collided. Both were towed away.

Trooper John Kohland of Kingston substation, investigated.

Though technology did not advance rapidly in the middle ages, substantial progress was made. In the 12th century, the windmill, wheelbarrow, window glass, candle, and paved road were invented. Spectacles and the ship's rudder appeared in the 13th; the grandfather clock was devised in the 14th.

UNICEF Funds

1 Washington Avenue
Kingston, N. Y.
Oct. 9th, 1966

Editor, The Freeman

I'm sorry to see humanitarian Americans working and collecting for UNICEF. Their idealism is being cynically exploited by clever Marxists. The United States donates the preponderance of UNICEF funds. Most of it goes to Communist countries (Cuba, Poland, Yugoslavia, etc.), or to "neutrals," where they tell us to "go to hell" (Egypt, Indonesia). It is impossible for UNICEF to operate without Communist influence. It is riddled from top to bottom with Marxists, from both sides of the Iron Curtain. It's field representatives in most neutral countries are Communists, who supply propaganda while dispensing goods from America. We get no credit for our largesse, as the natives are not told where the stuff comes from. Religious UNICEF greeting cards are designed by artists, who are either Marxist atheists, or adhere to some Oriental religion which does not recognize Christian holy days. American charity should go to the Christian foreign missions, still operating in undeveloped areas, despite the terror campaigns by Marxist butchers, (i.e., the Congo). These terroristic methods are deliberately done to drive out the church missions and leave the field clear for UNICEF. Read "The Fearful Master" or the UNICEF-UNESCO reports of Florence Fowler Lyons. Get facts, don't be satisfied with bland assurances. UNICEF is not incorporated anywhere in the U.S. and no official of any American government unit (federal, state, city, etc.) can demand to see UNICEF's financial accounts.

Vietnam War

12 Stuyvesant Street
Kingston, N. Y.
Oct. 16, 1966

Editor, The Freeman

Your editorial policy on Vietnam as presented in the "Global View" shows a basic misunderstanding of the events leading to the tragic situation we now find in Vietnam. Typical of this was Saturday's (Oct. 15, 1966) editorial.

The editorial makes it sound as if we are fighting against Chinese Imperialism, but it is not true that the Vietnamese under Ho Chi Minh started the war themselves some 20-30 years ago to end French Colonialism in Vietnam. After finally defeating the French (1954) they started fighting again only when it became known that the elections provided for in the Geneva Accords (1954) were not to be held. The United States, realizing, as Eisenhower admitted, that Ho Chi Minh would easily win such an election, supported the decision not to hold the elections which were meant to reunite Vietnam. Since then the United States has continued to support undemocratic and military leaders as Diem and Ky against Ho Chi Minh and the National Liberation Front, who for years have fought to rid their land of foreign domination.

Is it that unrealistic, as your editorial suggests, to recognize the National Liberation Front? The Saigon Government would fall without the support of the U.S. and its army, yet you are critical of those who call it a U.S. colony.

For the most part we are fighting not against Chinese but against the people of Vietnam who continue to fight and die to control their own nation. Is it not misleading to suggest, as your Saturday editorial does, that the United States is fighting for the Freedom and Independence of the South Vietnamese?

Sincerely,
JODY RAMSLAND

Rusk Manila Bound

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk leaves today for Manila and a series of talks with Asian foreign ministers preceding next week's seven-nation summit conference on Viet Nam.

Rusk is being accompanied by W. Averell Harriman, ambassador at large, and a delegation of 25 other officials. After their arrival in Manila Friday, the U.S. officials plan conferences with foreign ministers of the Philippines, South Viet Nam, Thailand and South Korea.

PARKING SPACE IN PUBLIC LOT FAIR GAME FOR FIRST ARRIVAL

Dear Mrs. Post: While taking a trip, my husband considers himself extremely lucky to spot a vacant parking place near the inn. He starts to drive into it and a young woman comes up to him and says that she was saving the space for her boy friend's car. (She was on foot and there was no sign of a car.) I was very annoyed when my husband acquiesced and drove on. The other couple in the car agreed with me that he should have ignored her and taken the space. We were unable to find another one in the area and this put all of us in a bad mood. What should he have done?—Frances K.

Dear Mrs. K.: If it were just for a moment or two while a driver may be turning around or dropping off another passenger, his companion might quite correctly try to hold a parking space for him. Otherwise, I think you're right; spaces in public parking lots should not be reserved.

How to Initial Wedding Napkins

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me if the bride's or groom's name comes first on monogrammed napkins for a wedding reception?—Dora Phillips.

Dear Miss Phillips: When initials are used, they generally fit, triangle shape, into the corner of the napkins. Girl's first initial, a little do or asterisk, boy's initial at top, and their last initial centered below. More often the full names are used, "Dorothy and Jim." The girl's name would always come first.

House Guests Leave Beds Neatly Made?

Dear Mrs. Post: When you have spent the weekend with friends what is the right thing to do with the beds when you leave? Should they be made up as they are, or should the sheets be removed and the bed left unmade?—Lois.

Dear Lois: Whatever you do, don't make up the bed with your used sheets on it. The nicest thing to do is to offer to make up the bed with clean sheets. If your hostess says, "Oh, no please don't bother," just fold the used sheets and pull up the bed spread neatly.

"How to Plan and Budget Your Wedding" by Elizabeth L. Post, is now available to readers of this paper. Ideal for brides-to-be, their fiancés and parents, this brand-new, 16-page booklet will help in preparing for the "perfect" wedding. SIGNED FOR MARINE BALL.—The well-known comedy team of Jane Martin and John Baro has been signed to appear at the 19th annual Marine Birthday Ball scheduled Saturday, Nov. 12, at the Tropical Inn, according to Commandant Gilbert E. Gray of Ulster Detachment Marine Corps League. The comedy team has appeared on television as well as on several stages, both in the U.S. and foreign countries. Gray urges early reservations for the event which he said promises to be one of the best in history. Other features of the 19th ball will include presentation of the Marine of the Year award, commemoration of the 191st birthday of the U.S. Marine Corps, the appearance of N.Y. State Commandant Edward Bange and music by Tommy Cavalero and his orchestra. Another act will be announced.

Sisterhood Ahavath Israel Lists Plans For Fall and Winter Activities in Area

The regular meeting of Sisterhood of Ahavath Israel held Oct. 12, was conducted by Mrs. Marvin Millens, vice president, in the absence of the president, Mrs. Seymour Semilof.

The United Synagogue Youth presented an entertaining musical skit written by Candy Harding and Ann Scher. The cast sat around along table portraying a typical board meeting. The songs, excerpts from Broadway shows, informed us as to what goes on at meetings and socials. It was most enjoyable. This youth group will welcome any teenager, 13 years through high school age, to its membership. Mrs. Sidney Rafalowsky has detailed information and can arrange transportation and can arrange transportation. The boys and girls meet on Sundays.

Mrs. Stephen Scher introduced new members: Mrs. Alan Bush, Mrs. Stanley Rosenbaum, Mrs. Harold Seidel and Mrs. Ruby Wissok. Miss Susan Lowe was greeted as a guest.

Mrs. Harvey Semilof addressed the membership concerning the Dec. 1 fashion show being presented by Sisterhood. Israeli couture clothes and jewelry will be shown.

On display will be a large selection of knits, silks and cruises. Reservations for "Fashions from Abroad" may be made by contacting Mrs. Irving Scher, Mrs. Lauren Satinsky and Mrs. Ira Shaw.

The donor committee has set the date of Saturday, April 15, for a "Champaigne Donor" evening at the Grand Hotel. Mrs. Murray Greene, chairman, will be glad to discuss means by which members may earn donor credits.

Mrs. Albert Tannin reported to the membership about a yellow pamphlet that is being distributed to the public that contains distorted ideas and misquotations about UNICEF. She suggests that one should write to the United Nations for a true pamphlet on UNICEF and not be misled by that little yellow sheet of paper.

An adult study course in Jewish history will be held on Tuesdays from 8-9 p. m., the beginning date to be announced shortly. Detailed information from Mrs. Stephen Feldman or Rabbi Harry Z. Schechter. The idea of a book review club meeting once a month on Sunday nights for the congregation was discussed.

Rabbi Schechter reminded all that the last Friday evening of every month is family night service at 8 p. m.

Wedding anniversaries and birthdays of children under college age are celebrated with a special cake at the Oneg Shabat. Wednesday, Nov. 9, the Sisterhood will hold its annual paid up membership supper. Mrs. Henry Jacobs and Mrs. Arthur

Sharon L. Dugan Exchanges Vows With Gilbert Feelemyer

Miss Sharon Lorraine Dugan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dugan Sr., 29 Russell Road, Hurley, exchanged marriage vows with Gilbert Wayne Feelemyer Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Feelemyer Sr., of Kensington, Md., on Sunday, Oct. 9 during a 2 p. m. ceremony in St. Joseph's Church, Kingston. Officiating was the Rev. James Keating, assistant pastor. James Sweeney was organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length gown of nylon chiffon over bridal taffeta. Her chapel length train was accented with tiers of nylon chiffon ruffles and her shoulder length veil of silk illusion was shirred to a stylized crown of lace and sequins. The bride carried a cascade of white pompons and spider mums.

piece. She carried a cascade of given in Elmer's Inn, Ruby, N. Y.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School, Class of 1965. Prior to her marriage she was employed at Chic's Plaza Restaurant, Kingston. Her husband is now serving with the Armed Forces and is stationed at Jacksonville, S. C.

After a wedding trip to Washington, D. C., the couple will reside in Jacksonville, S. C.

Keith Feelemyer of Kensington, Md., was best man and ushers were Dale Marton of Washington, D. C.; Richard Kiscene, Washington, D. C.; and junior usher, Dennis Dugan, brother of the bride. Master Brian Dugan, brother of the bride, served as ringbearer.

Breakdown of Met's Stage Turntable Calls For Quick Thinking; Workmen Triumph

By MARY CAMPBELL

NEW YORK (AP) — The brand new Metropolitan Opera had its own Sphinx riddle—how to move its one-ton Sphinx around after the main-stage turntable broke down.

The Met solved its riddle. On opening night in its $45.7-million building, the world premiere of Samuel Barber's "Antony and Cleopatra," the Sphinx moved around on stage, right on the libretto schedule.

The turntable had collapsed during rehearsals and Met executives, on opening night, decided there was no time to repair it. Up stepped a stagehand to announce he could move the 2,000-pound wood and plastic statue. With some modifications, it worked.

In the tradition of the Egyptian Pyramid builders, it was manual labor all the way. There were men inside the king-size model of the monument. They put their shoulders to the Sphinx.

Workers put wheels under it and the strong man climbed inside, put his back and shoulders against a cross piece in the framework, gave a mighty thrust backward, digging in his heels. The Sphinx moved.

But it didn't move majestically. More stagehands were sent inside — four, five, six — until they got up to eight, plus a key man to call signals and push, plus an assistant orchestra conductor to give the key man musical cues and not push.

The 22-foot-long, 18-foot-high Sphinx on wheels sometimes wrinkled the carpet covering the stage. The men found their feet slipping as they pushed, causing the Sphinx to move with fits and shudders.

They threw down rosin, and then somebody thought of sneakers for the men. So the Met management bought nine pairs of sneakers.

Arthur Hennie, key man of the Sphinx interior department, says the sneakers are "good ones—$11 a pair."

Forte Makes Honor List

Senior Arlene Forte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Machileo C. Forte of 12 Deyo Street, Kingston, has been named to the Academic Honor List of the College of Mount Saint Vincent, Riverdale, New York City, for the term ending June 7, 1966. She is one of 75 students to receive that honor because of an average index of 3.5 or more, and equivalent of B plus or A. Miss Forte's index was 3.81.

A graduate of Kingston High School, Miss Forte was the recipient of many honors. Among these were a Regents State scholarship, the American Association of University Women scholarship, the American Legion Award, and the winner of the Times-Union History contest.

A major in Latin with a minor in elementary education, Miss Forte is practicing teaching during this first term of her senior year.

Jean Bastolla Weds Leonard Freitag

Miss Jean Angas Bastolla, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bastolla of Jackson Heights, N. Y., wed Leonard John Freitag Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Freitag of the Bronx, on September 17, 1966 at 3:30 p. m. The double ring wedding ceremony took place in the Church of the Blessed Sacrament. Officiating clergyman was the Rev. William J. Sears and traditional wedding music was played by Mr. Demetries.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a beau de soie gown with lace. It was accented with applied lace on the bell skirt and embroidered with seed pearls. The back terminated in a chapel length train. The bride's veil of silk illusion was held by a queen's crown of pearls and crystals. She carried a traditional bridal bouquet of white flowers.

Miss Carol Ferrucci of 27 Plymouth Avenue, Bronx, Miss Dorothy LeBell of Flushing, and Miss Marie McGuire of 84 Thomas Avenue, Brentwood, were the attendants. They wore moss green coats. They carried yellow roses with matching green and beige satin leaves.

A reception for 125 guests was given in the Venice and Crystal Rooms of Burbur's in Flushing.

The bride was graduated from St. Helen's High School and is employed as assistant traffic manager by Monsanto Chemical Company. The bridegroom attended New York University and is a computer programmer for Co. Marco Data Service.

It's a mistake for a newly married couple to . . .

Expect that even though they are still financially dependent on their parents they will be allowed to make all their decisions without any unasked-for parental advice.

Assume that because the wife has a job when they are married they will always be able to count on two pay checks.

Ask for trouble by buying so heavily on the installment plan that meeting each month's bills is a real struggle.

Think that because he has some friends and she has some friends they don't need friends whose companionship they can enjoy together.

Be unwilling to make some sacrifices today in order to build toward a better future.

Think that because they are through school they no longer need to keep learning.

Assume that continuing companionship between a husband and wife just happens without any particular effort on either's part.

Criticize each other to any outsider, either relative or friend.

Stubbornly refuse to correct in themselves the small faults that cause unpleasantness—and which could so easily be corrected.

Ever be rude to each other. Argue about money matters instead of sitting down together and figuring out how to handle their money in a way they both agree is sensible and fair to both.

Think that the way to keep each other interested is to stir up a little jealousy now and then.

Assume that if the marriage isn't as happy as they hoped it would be they can always get a divorce and dump their problems in their families laps.

TO ATTEND CONCLAVE—Ulster County Council delegates to the 37th national convention of Girl Scouts of the U. S. A. confer on meeting themes prior to leaving Sunday for Detroit, Mich. Representing the local council will be (l-r) Mrs. Randolph Siegel, president; Mrs. Harry Cornwell, first vice-president; and Mrs. David Ennis, field advisor. Mrs. Stephen Dermody of Marlboro, retired assistant director of the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts, will be a featured speaker at the five-day session. (Freeman)

Educational Secretaries Will Attend Conference at New Paltz State University

The Educational Secretaries of the Kingston Area will attend a conference for school office secretaries on Friday, October 21 at the State University College at New Paltz. The conference is sponsored by the Mid-Hudson School Study Council of the College.

After registration, the group will hear Gerald Breen, Program Administrator for Education Headquarters of International Business Machines Corporation of Westchester. Group sessions will then be conducted. The first group will hear Peter A. Spina, Assistant Professor of Speech of Suffolk County Community College, speaking on "Speech and the Secretary." Another group will learn "What the School Office Secretary Should Know About Federal Aid to Schools" from Dr. Franklin A. Butts from Poughkeepsie High School. A third group will hear Clayton E. Rose, Director of Public Relations of the New York State Teachers Association, talk on "Public Relations—You're Showing." Richard E. Carlson, Assistant Dean of Students of Ulster County Community College will speak on "Speed Reading" to another group. The last group will hear Martin Markovits, Instructor from the Business Division of Orange County Community College in Middletown speak on "Short Cuts in Math for School Office Personnel." Another general session will take place after the group meetings. This session will hear Mrs. Shirley Tevanar, Education Representative from International Business Machines Corporation of White Plains. The general sessions and group meetings will be introduced by secretaries from the area who are chairmen of the groups. These chairmen include Mrs. Hilda Davidson of the Hyde Park Central School, Miss Florence Gray of the Wappingers Central School, Miss Doris Tibbs of the Poughkeepsie Public Schools, Mrs. Gloria Starling of the Rondout Valley Central School, Mrs. Ann Smith of the Ulster County Community College, and Mrs. Patricia Courneyer of the Middletown Public Schools.

The Kingston Area group was also represented at the Conference for New York State Educational Secretaries held at Massena recently. Mrs. Christine Beck and Mrs. Margaret Schwartz of the Business Office of the Kingston City Schools Consolidated attended this conference. Educational Secretaries not only have a state organization but are organized nationally also.

The local group held its regular fall meeting on Monday evening, Oct. 17 in the Living Center of the Vocational Building at Kingston High School. Mrs. Graves is the president and other officers are Mrs. Margaret McCordle, vice president; Mrs. Christine Beck, recording secretary; Mrs. Rose Stokes, corresponding secretary; Miss Linda Brody, treasurer, and Mrs. Anne Nicoletti, historian. The group voted to continue its scholarship program for the coming year which provides a scholarship for a young lady who is pursuing a secretarial career. Last year's recipient of this scholarship was Miss Ruth McGee, a graduate of Kingston High School. She is now attending Ulster County Community College.

About Optometrists

Optometry is "the art and science of vision care." Optometrists do not treat diseases of the eye or practice medicine or surgery. Two years of preprofessional studies are required, followed by three or four years of professional training, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Scout Executives Leave for National Conference Sunday

Mrs. Randolph Siegel, president of the Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts; Mrs. Harry Cornwell, first vice president and Mrs. David Ennis, field advisor will leave Sunday for Detroit, Mich., to take part in the 37th national convention of the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A.

Values To Hold — Worlds To Explore is the theme of this year's convention which will be attended by 9,000 delegates from all 50 states. Special emphasis will be placed on the future of Girl Scouting in the rapidly changing world and the delegates will take a look forward to "U.S.A. in the 1990's."

Delegates and visitors to the meeting will hear an address by Gov. George Romney of Michigan. The keynote address will be delivered by Barbara Ward, one of the world's great international contemporary authors, thinker and speakers. Her topic will be "The New Generation and The World They Will Inherit." Mrs. Stephen Dermody of Marlboro, will also be one of the featured speakers. Mrs. Dermody is the retired assistant director of the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts.

Among the special features during the five days in Detroit will be special interest groups on Youth, Women, The Volunteer Organization and The World. A new design for learning developed by the Leader Training Project will be launched and Council financing in all its ramifications will be considered by the delegates.

Mildred J. Carle, William E. Huff Take Marriage Vows

The marriage of Mildred J. Carle of Kingston to William E. Huff of Detroit, Mich., has been announced to The Freeman.

The wedding ceremony took place on October 11, 1966 at 3 p. m. in St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Kingston. Officiating clergyman was the Rev. Roy D. Meyers.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William R. Carle of Ancram, N. Y. Her husband is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Huff of Detroit, Mich.

Serving as attendants were Mrs. Helen Lewis of Red Hook, N. Y., and Sam Astalas Jr., of 65 Washington Avenue, Kingston. Mr. and Mrs. Huff are at home at 155 Elmendorf Street, Apt. B, Kingston. Mr. Huff was employed by Greyhound Bus Company prior to his retirement.

Dutch Church Club Opens Membership

Plans were made for a membership drive of the Couples Club of the Old Dutch Church at the regular meeting of the club Saturday night at the church. It was agreed that the club will host a coffee hour each Sunday after the 11 o'clock service at the church.

The club also voted to have a regular entertainment and publicity chairman and Mr. and Mrs. William Sacker were appointed to fill that position.

The club meets at the church the third Saturday of every month. Saturday's meeting featured a chicken dinner cooked by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Burgher and was served at 7:30 p. m. in Bethany Hall. Mrs. John Warren showed color slides of the East Coast.

Officers for the club for the current year include Mr. and Mrs. Neil Denny, and Mrs. John W. Hill, co-chairmen; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Anderson, secretary; and Mrs. Burgher, treasurer.

The November meeting will again feature the Burghers as cooks with Miss Ruth Kershner, director of Christian education of the church, having charge of entertainment.

Saugerties P-TA To Meet Oct. 25

The next meeting of the Saugerties P-TA will be held on Tuesday evening, Oct. 25, at 8 p. m. at the Grant D. Morse Elementary School. A panel consisting of mathematics teachers Thomas Zulick, Leon Morrier, Bruce Holmes, and Richard Barthel will present a program on "Modern Math" and discuss such questions as:

- (1) Why modern math, anyhow? What's the matter with the math "we" learned in school?
- (2) Could we have a brief background of the modern math movement?
- (3) What is the benefit of this type of learning over memorizing?
- (4) What preparations have our teachers had for teaching modern math?
- (5) Describe some techniques used by teachers in "getting across" concepts and terminology of modern math.

A social hour will be held after the panel discussion. It has been announced by President Norman W. Bolinder that sixth grade pupils will be on hand to conduct tours of Saugerties' newest elementary school, beginning at 7 p. m.

Well over half of all American working women are married and at least half hold down jobs not to pick up pin money but out of economic necessity, the Labor Department's Women's Bureau reports. In a recent study, based upon statistics gathered in 1964, the bureau found that most working wives came from homes where the husband's income was below the adequate level. Need also drove most single women and nearly all widowed, divorced and separated women into the job market.

Eastern Collegiate Football at Lowest Level Since 1963

By IRA MILLER
PITTSBURGH (AP)—On a recent Saturday, the once mighty football legions of Syracuse, Penn State, Pitt and Navy took their now usual jumps from four intersectional foes.

It was sadly typical for the East, which hasn't produced a nationally ranked team since 1963 and won't produce one this year.

Major college football in the East—the loosely aligned independent group of Syracuse, Penn State, Pitt, Army and Navy known as the "Big 5"—may be at its lowest ebb.

Whether it's because of rising academic standards, a ban on redshirting, or a tight limit on scholarships, the East has not matched any other section of the country in intersectional play in recent seasons.

The decline began after the 1963 season. That year, both Navy and Pitt enjoyed 9-1 records and were ranked among the top five nationally. Syracuse was 8-2; Penn State and Army 7-3.

But that was the last season Syracuse, Penn State and Pitt enjoyed the luxury of redshirting—the practice of holding a player out of competition a year (usually his sophomore season) to take advantage of maturity and experience and allow him to play during an extra, fifth year in school.

On Voluntary Basis
Syracuse, Penn State and Pitt entered into the voluntary redshirting ban and a limit on scholarships along with West Virginia of the Southern Conference.

They agreed, among other things, that no one be allowed to play past his fourth year in school (except those who miss a full season because of injury, etc.), and that each be limited to 100 football grants-in-aid at any time, or an average of 25 a year. The National Collegiate Athletic Association permits redshirting and places no limit on scholarships.

Here's what has happened: Pitt dropped from 9-1 in 1963 to 3-5 in 1964, to 3-7 in 1965 and now is 1-4. Syracuse, 8-2 in 1963, had two successive 7-3 years and now is 3-2. Penn State dipped from 7-3 to 6-4 to 5-5 and now is 2-3 and in danger of its first losing season since 1938.

"We have those three handicaps in winning intersectional games," Syracuse Coach Ben Schwartzwalder, dean of eastern coaches, points out. "You either have to go along with the restrictions or you don't."

Upping Standards
"We've been upping academic standards, thereby eliminating the marginal boy we used to get, and instead wind up playing against those boys. We've stopped using redshirts and we've limited the number of scholarships but at the same time the schedules are as tough as ever."

Neither Syracuse nor Penn State has beaten a major intersectional foe since 1964.

The only major intersectional victory for an Eastern team this year was by Army against a dismal Kansas State squad.

Coach Joe Paterno of Penn State put it on a numbers basis:

"When we had one platoon football (eliminated by the NCAA rules committee at the same time the East stopped redshirting), you could get by with 23 or 24 good players for your first and second team. And with redshirts, you always had six or seven experienced kids as a back-up."

Now, with the switch to two-platoon ball, you need 22 just for the starting lineup. With a couple of substitutes and specialists, you have to have at least 30 players. When someone gets hurt now you have to go to the third team.

"What they did in effect was to take away the six or seven redshirts from your 23 good men and leave you with 16 or 17, while at the same time increasing the number you must have to be solid. It has widened the gap to building a good club."

Reduces Competition
Another problem is that the lack of numbers makes it difficult, if not impossible, to get much intra-squad competition for positions.

"The competition is almost gone," Paterno says. "Now one guy plays offense, a second boy plays defense and the No. 3 man is a sub. Unless you have that good competition it's tough for boys to drive themselves."

Paterno says he'd like to see redshirting brought back on a limited basis, but, like Schwartzwalder and Pitt's Dave Hart, realizes the ultimate decision rests with the athletic directors and presidents who signed the original agreement.

Hart says he's not too concerned with redshirting, but would like to see the scholarship limit increased.

"I'd just like to be able to bring us up to the level of our opponents, to say 120 instead of 100," Hart says. "Twenty more boys would make a big difference. If you get four or five more ones out of that group, you've got something."

Rejects Theory
Paterno rejects the theory that redshirting holds back a football player's education.

"Even when we had redshirting, and it was only in very limited numbers, we encouraged a boy to graduate in four years if he could," Paterno says. "It was always up to the individual. But an awful lot of boys playing football in the fall and having practice in the spring take more than four years to graduate anyway." He adds:

"We have a couple of last year's starters still in school finishing up work on their degrees. I only wish we could play them."

The coaches don't know what,

if anything, will be done to relieve their problems but they make it plain they'd like some relief.

"It's like a war," Hart says. "One group fights with everything at its disposal and the other group is handicapped. Let's face it, when you go out there on Saturday, it's a war. You're out there to win."

And, adds Schwartzwalder: "Two of our coaches were fired (John Michelosen of Pitt and Gene Corum of West Virginia) after last season and another one retired (Rip Engle of Penn State), so I'm the only one that's left. Maybe after we go through this cycle a couple of times, someone will find out what the problems are. Then maybe they'll realize this (losing) isn't all the fault of the coaches."

Wiltwyck Club Elects Penrose New President

Wiltwyck Country Club has elected W. James Penrose of Kingston president for the 1967 season. He succeeds William H. McCullen.

Stanley Hankinson was elected vice president. Mrs. Robert Daley was re-elected secretary and Ray Sawyer was re-elected treasurer at a special meeting of the Board of Directors.

Penrose, who was vice president this year, is manager of the Materials Management division of Kingston IBM. He is a 25-year IBM employee, a member of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce and a director of the Salvation Army.

A 7-handicap player, Penrose has been a Wiltwyck member for nine years. He resides on Miller's Lane Extension with his wife and daughter, Jean, who attends Kingston High school.

Chairmen Reappointed
Penrose announced the appointment of several committee chairmen for the 1967 season. Arnold Pinsly remains as golf chairman and Alfred Schmid was re-appointed chairman of the Greens committee. Both chairmen drew high praise for their

Spartan Pools, And Royal Grill 'Y' Cage Winners

The Spartan Pools powerhouse continued to roll with a resounding 119-74 victory over the game but outmanned Jack's Barber Shop five in the YMCA fall basketball league Wednesday night.

In the companion game, Royal Grill broke into the win column for the first time with a 54-44 decision over Spada's Sport Shop.

Leading 54-37 at the half, Spartan's broke the game open with a 63-point second half. Paul Buytkins led with 27 points as six players scored in double figures. Dan Potter of Jack's dunked 27 points to tie Buytkins.

Royal Grill overcame a 26-21 halftime deficit with a 21-5 edge in the third period against Spada's. Tom Fiore led the winners with 15 points and Charles Teelon hit 14 for Spada's.

SOMETHING OLD, SOMETHING NEW—Gordie Howe, right, who signed his 21st contract with the Detroit Red Wings hockey club for a reported $40,000-plus, also took the opportunity to acquaint one of the newest members of the club, Pete Mahovich, 20, with the view from the seats at Olympia Stadium in Detroit. Gordie was scoring goals before young Mahovich was born. Red Wings opened their season in Boston Oct. 19. (AP Wirephoto)

Upstate Briefs

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—Jack Musick, who has piloted the Cornell football squad to a 4-1 record so far in his first season as coach, sends his Wing-T and 1 formations Saturday against Yale defense that has permitted opponents only 56 yards a game.

Musick said Wednesday he was priming offensive tackles Harry Garman of Lancaster, Pa., and Reeve Vanneman of Old Greenwich, Conn., to lead the way against the Bulldogs.

Yale also has a 4-1 record.

Army Will Host 2nd Cage Clinic

WEST POINT—Army's second annual basketball clinic will be held Saturday, Oct. 29, starting at 9:30 a. m. in the Field House. It was announced today by Coach Bob Knight. The first clinic in 1964 was well attended, but several pre-season complications forced postponement last year.

The Army team will be used to demonstrate drills employed to build a team offense and defense. Squad members also will be used to illustrate the ideas of each speaker, so that everything will be shown live and not just on a blackboard.

Guest speakers include two of the outstanding high school coaches in the country... Al Loboalbo of Belleville, N. J. and Jack Gallagher of Scranton, Pa., who has never had a losing season in 15 years of coaching. Loboalbo will speak on "Developing Individual Weaknesses" while Gallagher will focus his attention on "Attacking the Standard Zone and the Zone Press."

An intrasquad scrimmage in the Field House Saturday night will conclude the clinic program.

Finger Lakes Race Track Has Financial Woes

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A federal court judge has ordered the trustee in bankruptcy of the Finger Lakes Race Track to file a plan by Nov. 28 for the reorganization of the two companies which own the track.

Judge Harold P. Burke of U.S. District Court directed Francis J. D'Amanda, track trustee, Wednesday to file the plan by the November date or list reasons why the plan cannot be formed.

The order was prompted by a petition of John J. Petrossi, a $100,000 bondholder in the track, who said he also holds proxies of other bondholders.

Petrossi contends the track, near Canandaigua, had been operated under the trusteeship for the last two racing seasons and has shown little, if any, operating profit. If administrative costs were counted, the track would show a deficit, he added.

If the track operates under the trusteeship in 1967, Petrossi said it will mean financial disaster for the bondholders and could result in the closing of the track.

Canandaigua Enterprises Corp. built the track and leased it to a subsidiary, Finger Lakes Racing Association Inc.

After financial losses the first two seasons, they filed a petition in 1963 for an arrangement to pay creditors under Chapter XI of the Bankruptcy Act.

The Securities & Exchange Commission, however, asked that the arrangement be carried out under Chapter X, which would provide a trustee to investigate the companies' finances. That chapter also requires a commission report before a final decision.

The Boston Red Sox beat the Pittsburgh Pirates in the first World Series in 1903.

Rhubarb Again Stirs Lions It's Karras Against Gilmer

DETROIT (AP)—The rumbling discontent among the Detroit Lions broke out anew this week — this time in a verbal exchange between team captain Alex Karras and Coach Harry Gilmer.

Disenchanted with the team's performance in its 45-14 loss to Baltimore Sunday, Gilmer said he "talked to the team about not getting ready to play."

But Gilmer denied reports that he had threatened to put the entire club on waivers.

"I know for a fact that Gilmer wanted to put me on waivers," said Karras, the National Football League club's star defensive tackle.

Karras said Gilmer "directed most of his yelling and screaming at me. I know why. He wants to strike fear into the other ball players. But I'm not a whipping dog. All I want to do is play football."

Gilmer said there was an exchange of words Tuesday with Karras, adding: "I'm not saying what was said."

"You've got to let me dis-

Pay Dirt Wins Westbury Race

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP)—Pay Dirt, the odds on favorite, scored a three-quarter length victory over Pomp in the $54,149 Westbury Futurity Trot for 2-year-olds as Roosevelt Raceway opened its 50-night fall meeting Wednesday night.

Earle Avery drove the chestnut colt, owned by the Clearview Stable of New Canaan, Conn., to his seventh win of the season in 12 starts.

Pay Dirt took command from the rail position and was in command all the way. The victory was worth $27,074 and boosted Pay Dirt's juvenile earnings to $78,408. The colt was purchased as a yearling for $29,000.

Pay Dirt paid $3.40, $2.60 and $2.20. Pomp paid $3.60 and $3. Keystone Fling finished third and paid $6.40.

Floral Hanover finished fourth, followed by Keystone Pride, Halifax, Halifax Hanover, Pay Bill and Drummond R.C.

In races featured at other harness tracks in New York State Wednesday night: Saratoga Raceway — Fly Boy Duane ($4) defeated Jester Chief by three-quarters of a length and won the $1,500 pace in 2:15 1-5 on a very muddy track.

Batavia Downs—Buck Wilson ($16.20) passed Linds Girl in the stretch and won the $1,300 pace by two lengths in 2:10 4-5.

N. Dakota State Still Rates No. 1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chattanooga, advancing like an oncoming choo-choo train, roared into fourth place in the Associated Press' small-college football poll today. North Dakota State remained No. 1 while North Dakota held the runner-up position.

In 10th place a week ago, Chattanooga downed third-ranked Middle Tennessee State 5-0 last Saturday and climbed six places. The setback dropped Middle Tennessee to ninth.

North Dakota State had eight first-place votes and 141 points in the latest balloting by a national panel of 15 sports writers and broadcasters. The Bison downed Augustana, S.D., 28-0 for a 6-0 season record.

North Dakota, 5-0 after walloping South Dakota State 43-0, collected 114 points on a basis of 10 for a first place vote, 9 for second, etc.

The two top teams meet this Saturday on North Dakota's field in Grand Forks.

San Diego State moved up one place to third after beating San Jose State 25-0. Sul Ross State, 14-13 winner over Stephen F. Austin, held the No. 5 spot.

Montana State, Weber State, Arkansas State, Middle Tennessee State and Tennessee State complete the first 10 in that order.

The Top Ten, with first place votes and total points on a 10-9 8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

1. North Dakota St. 8 141
2. North Dakota 2 114
3. San Diego State 2 101
4. Chattanooga 57
5. Sul Ross State 1 56
6. Montana State 46
7. Weber State 42
8. Arkansas State 1 40
9. Middle Tennessee 32

SIDELINE VIEWS

By ED PALLADINO

It was only a few short years ago that Saugerties High had a football dynasty in the Dutchess County Scholastic League. The talented Sawyers rolled over 32 straight opponents and won four consecutive championships. They were the talk of the Hudson Valley.

Quiet suddenly, football fortunes at the school have taken a turn for the worse. That 51-0 setback suffered last week in Poughkeepsie is ample proof that it will be quite sometime, if ever, before Saugerties will again be a grid power.

Enrollment Is Small

When Saugerties entered the DCSL after sweeping everything in sight in the smaller UCL, the Dutchess County League provided good, even competition. The schools were growing, but nobody could force just how fast. Saugerties was happy to be in a bigger league and it more than held its own in all sports, while dominating everything in football.

But, while the school enrollment at Saugerties didn't increase to such a great extent, schools like Wappingers Falls, Arlington and Roosevelt were forced to erect new buildings to take care of the huge enrollment increases they were experiencing.

Then, too, Our Lady of Lourdes, with a school enrollment of more than 1,000 boys and girls, became a reality. Beacon, though not growing as fast as the others, also started to have those pains and is now in the process of building a bigger school.

The Future Is Bleak

Where does this leave Saugerties? There is little doubt that before too long, possibly next year, Kingston and possibly Newburgh will be accepted into the DCSL. Who can imagine a school the size of Kingston meeting Saugerties in athletics? Year after year, the bigger school has to dominate simply because there are more athletes to choose from.

We would like to see Saugerties and the UCL join forces again. The Dutchess County League is no longer one that will be dominated by one school. Highland is a good example.

That football team has opened the Saugerties schedule the past several years and has decisively whipped the Sawyers in the last two. There is not a bit of doubt that the admittance of Saugerties to the UCL will prove beneficial, not only to the school but to the league.

Kudos for Seither

During that 32-game victory string, Fred Seither was hailed as one of the great high school football coaches in the area. Has he lost his coaching abilities because his squads have been losing? Has the Delaware Winged T, which Seither teaches his boys, lost its effectiveness on offense? Is the defense taught by Seither outmoded?

Those answers are rather obvious. Fred Seither is just as good a football coach now as he was four, five and six years ago. He is still one of the best in the area. But, a coach is only as good as his material. The successful coaches are the ones who make the best use of what they have.

Seither has done an amazing job with limited resources. His squads are always small in numbers and if his first team players are injured, there is always a big difference between that boy on the starting squad and the number one reserve.

Action Is Needed

The Saugerties School Board of Education should take a long, hard look at the sports future at the school. The rapid growth of the DCSL has worked against Saugerties.

It's just not fair to the coaches, the athletes, the parents and the fans to send the Sawyers into action knowing their chances of winning are not what they should be.

If nothing is done, things will get worse rather than better.

Super Bowl Game Date Stirs Pro Grid Ranks

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The wheels will start spinning if and when the pro football merger finally gets the green light from Congress.

The first matter of business for the joint committee of National Football League and American Football League owners undoubtedly will be the date of the Super Bowl game between the two champs.

With the AFL title game set for Monday, Dec. 26, in the home park of the Eastern Division winner, and the NFL championship slated for Sunday, Jan. 1 in the home stadium of the Eastern Conference winner, the logical date would be Sunday, Jan. 8.

However, the NFL already has the Playoff Bowl at Miami between the two runners-up teams in the league, set for Miami on Jan. 8 with television commitments.

Nobody knows what sort of compromise might be worked out. Much depends on the TV network which will win the rights to the Super Bowl game. It is likely that the game will be held the weekend of Jan. 7-8 with either this game or the Playoff Bowl winding up at night.

They have talked about the Rose Bowl, the Sugar Bowl, the Orange Bowl and the Astrodome as the site. If you have to make a guess, take the Rose Bowl, although some college authorities will not be happy.

The NFL's Pro Bowl in Los Angeles and the AFL All-Star game in Oakland are supposed to be played Sunday, Jan. 15, but all that presumably could change. However, it's unlikely they would wait that long to play the Super Bowl when the AFL winner will have been decided Dec. 26. If there is a tie and another playoff, they may be playing until baseball opens spring training.

If each Green Bay Packer got $7,519.91 and each Cleveland Brown $3,288.83 after last January's NFL title game in Green

730 Yards Gained Raises Louisville In College Rating

NEW YORK (AP) — Louisville's 730-yard onslaught against Drake last Saturday has sent the Cardinals soaring into fourth position among college football's leading offensive machines, the weekly statistic from the NCAA Athletic Bureau showed today.

While drubbing Drake 66-26 in a Missouri Valley Conference mismatch, the Cardinals passed for 423 yards and ran for 307 in the second biggest offensive binge on record.

Louisville, 38th in total offense a week ago, now trails UCLA, Notre Dame and Harvard in average yardage per game.

Chicago Bulls, NBA Patsy Lead Western Division

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Break up the Bulls?

Well, there haven't been any calls for such drastic measures yet, but some of the other clubs in the National Basketball Association must be starting to wonder what it's all about as the newly created Chicago franchise — supposedly the patsy of all time — goes on winning.

After only three games, the unbeaten Bulls lead the Western Division of the NBA by 1½ games. Wednesday night, they beat the potent Los Angeles Lakers 134-124, despite a 45-point performance by Laker star Elgin Baylor.

When the Chicago franchise was picked, it appeared that the league had really pulled a fast one. The team wasn't given anybody who could be called a star.

Rogers Gets 34

But Chicago Coach John Kerr picked up Guy Rodgers from San Francisco and the ranks have formed around him. Wednesday, Rodgers threw in 34 points and helped spark a Chicago surge in the fourth quarter when it appeared that the Lakers might pull it out after trailing 89-71 in the third period.

Baylor and Darrell Imhoff led the Laker surge in the final period and brought Los Angeles within four points, but then Rodgers and Keith Erickson began pouring in the points. Erickson finished with 26 points.

In the only other game scheduled Wednesday, New York crushed Baltimore 131-109 for the Knicks' second straight triumph.

The Knicks trailed 27-17 at the quarter, but pulled within five points at the half and Howie Komives led a third-quarter surge, getting 11 of his 28 points.

In the opening five minutes of the fourth quarter, the Knicks outscored the Bullets 25-6 and Baltimore was finished. Kevin Loughery led the Baltimore scoring with 29 points. Willis Reed had 23 and Dick Van Arsdale 20 for the Knicks.

Blanda, 37, Named AFL Offensive Player of Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A smile flashed across George Blanda's weatherbeaten face when a teammate showed him a newspaper clipping boosting Houston's new-era Oilers.

"New era," said Blanda grinning. "Well, the old era's still here."

It is indeed and New York learned all about it last Sunday when the 37-year-old quarterback piloted the Oilers to a 24-0 victory over the Jets. It was New York's first loss of the season and the Jets' first shut out in 33 games.

Blanda was named the AFL's Offensive Player of the Week by The Associated Press for his performance against New York. He completed 12 of 24 passes for 186 yards and two touchdowns. He also kicked an eight-yard field goal as well as three extra points.

It was a pretty fair show for a guy who's been around pro ball for 17 years — 10 in the NFL and seven in the AFL. He passed the 10-mile mark in yardage gained in the AFL earlier this season and he still seems to be going strong.

Sweepers Attend Fall Ski Forum

Six members of the Trail Sweepers Ski Club will attend the Annual Fall Forum of the United States Eastern Amateur Ski Association. The event will be held Oct. 21-23 at the Eastern Slope Inn, North Conway, N. H.

The convention theme is "USEASA—Skiing's Selfless Service." The forum is designed to present in review the activities of the 28 USEASA committees for the coming season. Dot Birmingham, area USEASA representative and Sweepers vice president, heads the local contingent which also includes Sweepers president, Larry Gray; Sharon Stahl, Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Goffredi and Donald DeKoskie; Rip Van Winkle Council president.

Buckpasser Cops 11th Win in Row

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Who's going to beat Buckpasser?

Ogden Phipps' star 3-year-old colt won his 11th straight race with an easy 2½ length victory over Ring Twice in the $54,600 Lawrence Realization Stakes at Aqueduct Wednesday.

It emphasized anew that the son of Tom Fool out of Busanda has spread-eagled his age group and that, if any one is going to beat him, it will be an older horse.

Some folks think the challenge will come from Mike Ford's 4-year-old Royal Gunner, second by three-quarters of a length in Buckpasser in the recent $100,000 Woodward Stakes at Aqueduct. They are scheduled to meet again in the testing two-mile Jockey Club Gold Cup on Oct. 29.

The Gold Cup is slated to be Buckpasser's final 1966 race and he probably again will be the odds-on choice.

His easy triumph in the 1½ mile Realization strengthened Buckpasser's claim to horse of the year honors. He was five lengths behind Ring Twice and Pook at the head of the stretch, but drew even by the 16th pole under the mild urging of jockey Braulio Baeza and pulled away in impressive fashion with his ears pricked.

Bruce Davis Rolls 709 Series

Bruce Davis of the International League put together games of 210, 278, 221 for a 709 series Wednesday night. It was the fifth "700" set of the season and tied Joe Primo's score on the honor roll.

Runnersup were Gary Barnes with 652 and Carmine Immediato, the poultry fancier, with 642, both in the International. Top woman's series was the 578 fashioned by Rosella Brandon, a 147-average bowler, in the Mid-City Quads. She had solos of 209, 214 and 155.

Emilio Primo, a 159 average bowler in the Catholic AA, soared to 632 on highs of 237, 203, 192. John Loughlin Sr. rolled a career first 620, also in the Catholic AA.

Mary Fisher had a career-first 500 with 507 in the Mid-City Quads.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Fair Labor Standards Act if they offer less than legal minimum wages or pay wage differentials based on sex. Most employees engaged in the production of goods for commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and not less than $1.15 an hour for overtime work. Beginning September 3, 1966, most employees in certain retail service construction and other enterprises engaged in the production of goods for commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and not less than $1.15 an hour for overtime work. The Act also requires equal pay for equal work for men and women if you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning the Fair Labor Standards Act, call or write the U. S. Labor Department's local office at 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. 10433, or 212-262-1234.

IMPORTANT NOTICE: The New York State Law against Discrimination and the Federal Civil Rights Act of 1964 prohibit discrimination in employment because of sex unless based on bona fide occupational qualifications. Help wanted advertisements arranged in columns captioned "Male" and "Female" are not intended as an unlawful limitation or discrimination based on sex.

IT'S A TOPSY-TURVY WORLD—and a messy one, too—when the cast of the new film, "Don't Make Waves," buckles down to work. Plot revolves around a party which continues even though the host's house slides down in squishy mud during a California deluge. Costars are Italian bombshell Claudia Cardinale, Tony Curtis, Sharon Tate, Joanna Barnes and Robert Webber. Here, Claudia finds an upright position in a leaning world.

Featured in Art Works in Moscow

MATTHEW MEEDS, son of Mrs. Martha Meeks of 36 Post Street and sixth grade student at Sophie G. Finn School, is featured in an art exhibit by a noted Woodstock artist in Moscow. Anton Refregier painted a picture of the boy with his daughter last summer. Entitled Friends, it is included in the exhibit of Refregier's works which will tour Russia after the Moscow show.

World News In Brief

Rejects Demands

TOKYO (AP) — Prime Minister Eisaku Sato rejected opposition demands today that he resign and dissolve Parliament because of scandals in the Japanese government.

"I will settle the matters in my way," he told Parliament.

One Cabinet minister has been accused of rigging an express train stop, another of using a military brass band for a private parade, and a third of himself, has been accused by the Socialists of tax evasion.

Order New Trial

PARIS (AP) — A new trial has been ordered in the Mehdi Ben Barka kidnapping following the surrender of the Moroccan deputy security chief, Maj. Ahmed Dlimi, hours before the case was to have gone to the jury.

Dlimi was charged with helping to plan the kidnapping here almost a year ago of Moroccan leftist leader Ben Barka, who is believed to have been murdered. Dlimi said in Morocco Monday he was going to Paris voluntarily to clear himself and his country.

Six persons had been on trial six weeks in one of France's most controversial legal cases since World War II.

Attorneys said legal moves now could delay the new trial one or two years.

Charge Border Violation

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — A South Korean soldier was killed and another kidnapped by North Korean soldiers last weekend in the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea, the United Nations Command charged today.

The Communist soldiers launched a "well-prepared, deliberate attack" in broad daylight in the southern half of the 2-mile-wide truce zone, U.S. Marine Maj. Gen. Joseph O. Butcher told a meeting of the joint Military Armistice Commission.

North Korean Maj. Gen. Park Chung-kook denied the attack, accusing Butcher of a "false charge."

Reiterates Challenge

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank D. O'Connor today issued his "twentieth challenge" to Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to meet in a two-man face-to-face television debate.

"Why not show the voters the face behind the commercials; let them hear the voice behind the promises?" the Democratic gubernatorial candidate said in a telegram to the governor.

"No amount of saturation advertising can substitute for a personal appearance that will reach the minds of millions in a single hour period, in which sincerity and capability are judged by the viewing public," O'Connor said.

He also renewed his challenge to his Republican opponent to make public his campaign expenses.

Funds Take Over Spotlight in Congress Race

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick today charged that Hamilton Fish Jr., his Republican opponent for Congress in the 28th District, was soliciting support from New York City after accusing the Congressman of using "powerful outside interests" to defeat Fish.

The Resnick camp said that Fish was a guest of honor at a cocktail-fund-raising party attended by prominent New York City Republicans, including Mayor John V. Lindsay, Tuesday night in New York City.

John Barry, of Catskill, Fish's campaign manager, told the Freeman today, that less than $1,000 was raised and that the party was primarily a gathering of Fish's friends.

Resnick accused Fish of hypocrisy in that Resnick said Fish issued a circular in the 28th district saying that Resnick was using powerful outside interests to defeat Fish while Fish was, at the same time, soliciting New York City support.

The Fish letter did not tell what those "powerful outside interests" were but Barry said today that he is checking out a rumor that Resnick received $50,000 from the AFL-CIO after that body endorsed Resnick at its July meeting in Chicago.

"Resnick should be the last man to talk about spending money in this District," Barry said.

Housewives . . .

prices down. The housewife, he said, is "our life blood and we love her."

In Houston, women were urged to buy milk for babies only and to cut down on bread purchases, as the Texas Housewives Association announced a chain store boycott beginning Monday.

"We're not entering in any ding-dong battle with the women," a spokesman for the Texas Retail Grocers Association said in Waco. "With the psychological frame of mind many are in, a statement from us might add emphasis to their side, not ours."

An abrupt end came to the price war in Portland, Ore., where consumer pressure had briefly sent the price of a gallon of milk to 19 cents.

Prices returned to more normal levels after Dist. Atty. George Van Hoomissen of Multnomah County began investigating complaints from independent grocers that the discount war was in violation of state law.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced moderately in quiet trading early this afternoon.

The market was mixed at the opening but prices gradually began to rise.

It was a turnaround from Wednesday's loss, which snapped the sharp advance of the two previous sessions.

Analysts said they considered bullish developments the 3.6 per cent rise in September in new factory orders for durable goods, sharp gains in third quarter earnings of some big corporations and the record short interest reported by the New York Stock Exchange.

Trading was halted in KLM Royal Dutch Airlines because of an influx of orders after the stock slumped 15½ to 101 on an opening block of 70,000 shares. KLM had announced it would issue $14 million of new common stock.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was up .9 to 285.5 with industrials up 1.9, rails up .1 and utilities up .2. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon had gained 4.68 to 790.03.

Bonding, off 2½ at 44, on blocks of 113,200 and 25,000 shares, appeared headed for the top of the day's most active list.

Rubbers, nonferrous metals, oils, airlines and drugs advanced.

that many of the petition signers believed they were supporting a plea of peace rather than a political candidate when they signed the petitions. His contention is that an "item of fraud which may permeate the entire petition" makes the petitions invalid.

Another motion concerning the address of one of the members of the committee on vacancies. It was contended that the address was not "properly designated." In his third motion Gottlieb told the court he believed the "general pattern" indicated that people collecting the signatures did so "wherever they could" and consequently they did not know every signer personally. That, counsel contended, was a "fatal defect."

Calls Comment 'Improper'

Near the conclusion of the day's hearing, Judge Mino said there should be no comment by either counsel to the press while the hearing is in progress. Such comment Judge Mino said he felt was "improper."

Judge Mino indicated Wednesday that he was anxious to conclude the proceedings since this court's decision might be subject to the scrutiny of the Appellate Division.

Gottlieb commented that it apparently was the object of the respondent to keep the proceeding going until the "time factor" makes it impossible to finish the plaintiff's case. He said further that if he takes an appeal, he will question whether the tactics of the opponents were in good faith or whether they were dictated by fear "that the petitions would be invalidated." He charged that the subpoena for Resnick was a "hunt for publicity."

Tepper called the remarks of Gottlieb as "an Alice-in-Wonderland statement, which is totally confusing and totally irrelevant."

A-Treaty Optimism

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union told the United Nations today that chances have improved for agreement on a treaty halting the spread of nuclear weapons. Both expressed optimism over recent developments.

Opening a major disarmament debate, Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko declared that he welcomed recent assurances given by the United States and that agreement would be possible soon if Washington would back the assurances with concrete practical deeds.

out a massive mail pileup that engulfed the Chicago post office causing delays of up to 10 days in some deliveries.

"I want to make absolutely certain that we do not incur a backlog of mail in any post office in the nation such as the one we just dug out of in Chicago," O'Brien said.

Absenteeism Cited

Postal officials blame recent mail delays on personnel problems — mainly the inability to hire enough employees. They say absenteeism played a role in the Chicago pileup.

O'Brien said that in cases where delays could become serious he is authorizing whatever overtime pay is necessary to clear up the jam. He also disclosed the department is creating 10,000 new regular jobs by converting temporary substitute positions to regular status.

Meanwhile a Postal Employees Union official predicted an embargo will be placed on all third class mail — such as advertising circulars — to permit Christmas mail to be delivered on time.

Uptown Stores Set

oil painting kits for individual students in each of three categories, elementary, junior high and high school. Only those students officially entered in the contest will be permitted access to the windows.

Painting Starts Tuesday

Painting of windows will begin Tuesday afternoon and all paintings must be complete and ready for judging by 6 p. m. Friday. Winners will be announced Saturday.

The contest is open to all students in Grades 6 through 12 who are receiving art instruction in any school (public or parochial) in the area served by the Kingston City Schools (consolidated).

Students desiring to enter must report in person to the Contest Registrar at the Shults Paint Co., 37 North Front Street, and sign the register between the hours of 3:30 p. m. and 4:30 p. m. on any of the following days: Monday, Oct. 24; Tuesday, Oct. 25; or Wednesday, Oct. 26.

The number of entries will be limited by the number of store windows available, and entries will be on a first come, first served basis.

Students will work in groups of two or three. To be eligible for awards, all persons working on a painting must be from the same grade. It is suggested, therefore, that students decide in advance with whom they will work, and that all members of the group register at the same time.

To Provide Free Kits

Assignments to specific windows will be made at the time of registration. Due to administrative difficulties, requests for a specific window cannot be honored, and there can be no "trading" of windows.

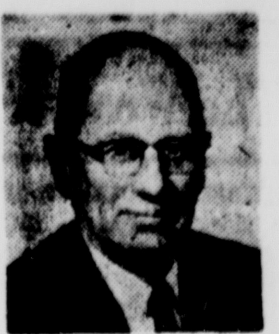

Kits of window paints will be provided free at the time of registration. Only paint provided by the contest officials may be used. No more than two kits will be provided for each window, regardless of the number of students working on that window. Students are expected to provide their own brushes.

Before beginning to paint, students must report to the store manager at assigned location, and must follow his instructions as to location and size of painting.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

Merit Retention

Q) "Our ten-member investment club would like advice on two stocks purchased in 1965—Radio Corporation at 38½ and Northwest Natural Gas at 16½. Should we hold or switch to something with a more promising outlook?" L.H.

A) My advice is to hold these stocks for their promising outlook. RCA is a leader in all phases of electronics and a major factor in telecasting and broadcasting. It gives your club a stake in several of our most favored growth industries.

Northwest Natural Gas last year for the first time in a span of seven years dropped a few cents in share earnings, pulling down the market price temporarily. The official estimate for 1966—$0.77—shows a two-year lift from 1964's record high of $0.72. Dividends have been raised annually since 1955 and another moderate increase is expected next year.

Last year holders of the stock benefited from the liberal tax exemption on the dividends, a policy likely to be continued this year. Further gains in sales, revenue and earnings are expected from new service areas in growing coastal communities of Washington and Oregon. Management has also approved operational adjustments intended to provide more even growth in earnings rate.

Q) "Why are there days when I cannot find a quotation for a stock I know is listed on the NYSE? Is this a printer's error?" W.D.

A) It could be, although by and large quotations are surprisingly accurate, considering the speed required to transfer them into type with all the day's changes. Some papers print only an abbreviated list of the better-known issues. Another possible answer may be that there are stocks which are not traded every day, so many larger metropolitan dailies include a list of untraded issues on both major exchanges.

If your stock is not quoted in a complete list of all trades, look for a supplementary list of bids. You may find it there.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

that the Australian and American people had put their hands to the task of helping to build a new Asia.

"I feel now — as I did in 1942 — the confidence that comes from the steadfast support of Australia," he said. "You must know that we reciprocate that support in full measure."

"Together, as we have always been, I know that we shall succeed. Now I look forward to meeting your great people once again."

As he did in New Zealand, the President on the way to his bubble-top limousine brushed past his guards to shake hands with persons in the crowd.

As the President drove to Government House, more than 250 university students carrying placards attacking U.S. policy and the Viet Nam war assembled outside Johnson's hotel to await his arrival.

The demonstrators appeared to be more in high spirits than angry, and a few carried placards calling for an end to Communist aggression. But they shouted "Go home Yank!" at American newsmen waiting for the President. Barriades kept them from the hotel foyer, but the police made no attempt to disperse them.

The American President moved on to the fourth stop on his 29,000-mile Asian tour after exchanging public pledges with Prime Minister Keith J. Holyoake of New Zealand to fend off aggression and search for peace in Viet Nam.

Must Resist

"For free men, for responsible men, for men of conscience, there is no acceptable alternative but to resist aggression," Johnson told New Zealand's Parliament.

The President argued that hopes for a better tomorrow in Asia cannot be realized "in a climate of terror." He said the Communists are trying to create that climate — and to use it for conquest — in Viet Nam.

Directing his words at Hanol, Johnson said: "We say to the leaders of North Viet Nam: A new Asia is emerging. Your people should be part of it — proud, independent, peaceful, the beneficiaries of a social and scientific revolution that is regenerating the life of man."

"Our goal is not to destroy North Viet Nam, not to compel her to surrender anything which is hers, not to bring down her government."

It is simply to halt the war she is waging and supporting against her neighbor. When we succeed — and we shall succeed — we shall begin a nobler war against man's ancient enemies — hunger, ignorance and disease — everywhere in Southeast Asia, including North Viet Nam, if its government so desires."

North Viet Nam Wednesday denounced Johnson's tour as "the extreme hypocrisy" and said the Manila conference Johnson will attend next week is designed to intensify the war in Viet Nam. Peking joined in the denunciation.

During his 24-hour visit to New Zealand, Johnson drew impressive if not exuberant crowds, friendly cheers and — at one point — some loud boos from opponents of the Viet Nam war.

Johnson had a quick rejoinder for his critics. He beamed a broad smile directly at them and raised his hand twice in the "V for victory" salute popularized by Winston Churchill in World War II.

Then, as the several hundred placard-carrying pickets booed louder, Johnson kept smiling and raised his hands in a boxer's victory clasp.

"I didn't consider them unfriendly — they want peace, too," he said in a departure from his prepared speech.

Johnson also met separately with Holyoake and members of his cabinet and for 15 minutes with Norman Kirk, the opposition leader in Parliament. Viet Nam figured prominently in both meetings.

Three males were transferred to other institutions; six were discharged by order of the court; two females were discharged through reversal of judgement; 28 men and one woman left the jail after paying fines and there were 92 men and four women discharged from jail for other causes.

As of the last of September, Sheriff Martin reports 22 men being held for grand jury action; 35 men and one woman were in jail because of convictions or sentenced to jail and there was one woman being held as a material witness.

Served 5,806

During September a total of 5,806 meals were served to city prisoners.

A total of 1,850 hours worked by persons confined to jail which at an estimated $2 per hour saved the county the sum of $3,700.

The Navigation Patrol of the office had a busy September when the sheriff's department boat patrolled 420 miles, gave assistance to six craft, issued six navigation summonses and made six navigation arrests. Warnings were issued to 37 boat operators and property valued at $300 was recovered by the patrol.

There were 37 summonses issued for illegal parking in the County Parking lot on John Street supervised by the sheriff's office. The deputy in charge gave 174½ hours time to patrolling the area and income was $670.23.

In the Special Services Department 117 persons were fingerprinted; 16 pistol permits issued; 30 pistols were registered; 68 record checks were made and the total receipts of the department was $120.

Of the 136 complaints received in the criminal department, 90 were closed by investigation, there were 24 arrests made and 22 cases remained open at the end of September.

Note Investigations

The criminal department investigated 16 accidents, made 61 vehicle and traffic arrests; gave assistance to 71 motorists and executed 28 criminal warrants. There were four felony arrests; 24 misdemeanor arrests. During September eight persons were committed to other institutions and the value of property received amounted to $7,200. Cars of the sheriff's department patrolled 21,101 miles and special details served 140 hours.

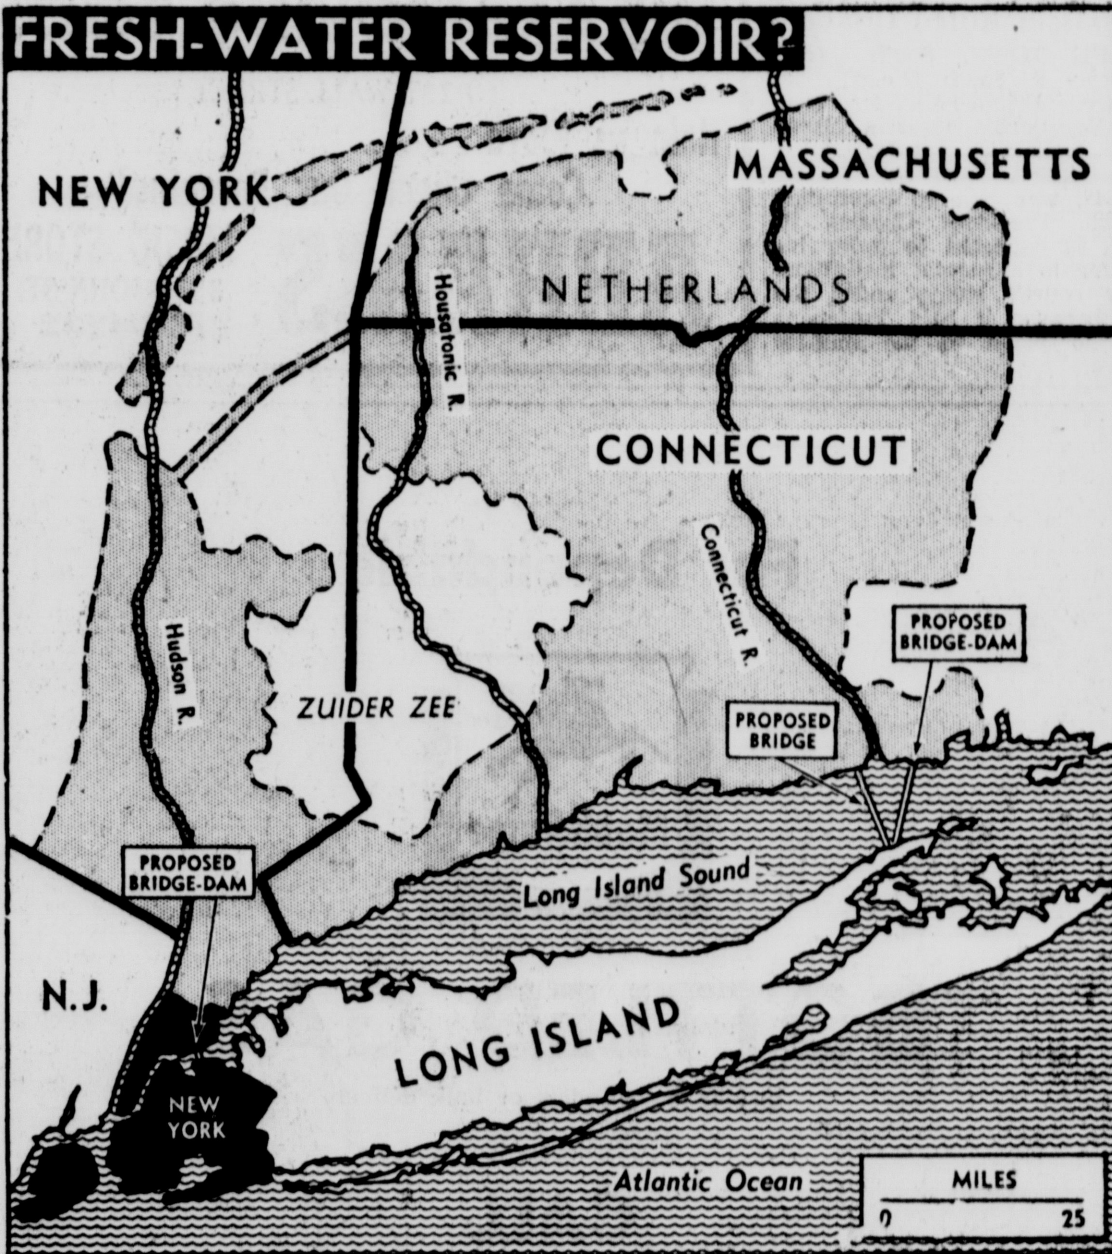

The civil department was also active with 76 subpoenas served; 174 grand and trial jurors were served and 83 Family Court summonses were served. The total subpoenas issued for the district attorney's office 24; Family Court warrants 5; income executions 40; property executions 16. Received from bail and fines $5,140 and receipts from executions totaled $8,031.67. The fees, which are turned over to the county treasurer, totaled $1,468.51 according to the monthly report of Sheriff Martin which is filed with the Department of Correction.

The 1967 queen chosen Saturday night will represent Ulster County in the Miss New York State Pageant in July at Olean. The pageant here, sponsored by Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce is an official preliminary to the Miss America Pageant at Atlantic City.

Viet Nam and who has said he would withdraw all New Zealand combat troops if he wins control of the government in the Nov. 26 election, said after his meeting with the President: "He told me what he thought and I told him what I thought about Viet Nam. We both went away thinking the same as we started."

The prolonged drought in the Northeast and forecasts of steadily increasing demands on water resources to meet future needs spurred the government in a recent report, "A Ten-Year Program of Federal Water Resources Research," to encourage study of "far-out ideas" for increasing the nation's water supply. One far-out proposal that resulted suggests converting Long Island Sound into a fresh-water reservoir by closing it off from the sea with dams. Runoff from rivers feeding into the sound eventually would change its waters from salt to fresh with a capacity many times the present needs of New York City. The reservoir would be the largest in the United States and the major dam, at the eastern end of the sound, would be twice as long as Fort Peck dam on the upper Missouri River, presently the longest in the country. The scope of the project would compare with the closing off of the Zuider Zee in The Netherlands, under way since 1932 to create new farms from land once underwater.

Raible, general chairman of the 1967 Ulster County Community Chest drive. Hucktrol, a subsidiary of Huck Manufacturing Co., Detroit, Mich., manufactures installation tools for the Huckline of fastening tools. Raible, noting that Hucktrol is completing its first year of business in Kingston, said the firm's corporate gift illustrates the interest in community activities. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Most of This Week's Rainstorm Is Over

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Most of this week's rainstorm is over, the Weather Bureau said today as New York City measured more than three inches in Central Park and many of the state's eastern communities measured more than an inch. The bureau said tonight and Friday would be mostly fair, with a frost or freeze tonight in some rural valleys of western New York. High temperatures Friday are expected to be mainly in the 50s Upstate and around 60 in the New York City area. Rainfall totals since Tuesday included more than two inches at Westhampton Beach and nearly two inches at Poughkeepsie and Newburgh. Albany and numerous places along the Hudson valley and the New York-Vermont line had more than an inch. Elsewhere, the fall totaled generally under an inch, down to .05 at Rochester.

Resnick Joins Wilson to Save Perrine's Bridge

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick, (D-Elizaville) joined Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson (R-Woodstock) as a member of the Citizen's Committee to save Perrine's Bridge. In a letter to Elmer Carney, temporary chairman of the committee, Resnick said, "I accept with great pleasure both as a private citizen and as your Congressman, your invitation to join the committee. Please be assured that I will spare no effort to help you in any problems you have on the federal level in approving your project." Assemblyman Wilson has been an active member of the committee since its inception in 1957 by a group of Fair Street Church Boy Scouts, headed at that time by Carney. Wilson's office announced today that the Assemblyman has made formal application to the State Historic Trust to designate Perrine's Bridge a historic site. The Trust was formed Oct. 1 through legislation supported by Assemblyman Wilson. Miss Anna K. Cunningham, director of Historic Sites of the State Department of Education, has assured Wilson that his application to the Trust is being given full consideration.

Assassin Ruled Insane
CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — A South African court declared Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd's assassin insane today, ending his murder trial. The killer, Dimitrie Tsafendas, 48, was ordered committed to jail. President Charles R. Swart is expected to order his transfer to a mental institution. The court's ruling ended the trial because it held Tsafendas unfit to plead to the murder charge.

the choppers were destroyed and the other 20 were damaged. Eyewitnesses said the Viet Cong had eight machine guns camouflaged in the paddy fields, thus escaping detection during air strikes before the South Vietnamese attack. Viet Cong Machine gunners were zeroed in on the two helicopter landing zones and cut loose once the troop-carrying choppers put down.

Terrorists Active

The U.S. command reported no significant ground action Wednesday. Its daily communique noted only that American Marines killed nine Viet Cong in a skirmish eight miles southeast of Da Nang. The command also announced that a new operation, called Shenandoah, had been underway since Monday but no U.S. or enemy casualties were reported so far. The operation is a reconnaissance in force by several battalions of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division 73 miles north of Saigon.

Terrorists Active

The weather improved over North Viet Nam slightly Wednesday and U.S. pilots flew 73 missions, 29 more than the previous day.
